ROOSEVELT CALLS FOR $400,000,000 CUT IN SPENDING

Federal Departments To Be Asked To Impound 10 Per Cent of New Appropriations in Order To Effect U. S. Economies.

BALANCED BUDGET THIS YEAR IS SEEN

President Denies Knowledge of Formula To Settle Disputes CIO-AFL; Will Ignore Fish Charge

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today he hoped to save about $400,000,000 on this year's federal appropriations by having the various departments impound 10 per cent of their newly appropriated funds.

The President told a press conference he hoped to balance the budget at the end of the current fiscal year and that some activities would have to be curtailed to bring about the saving.

Mr. Roosevelt said he had sent a letter to the heads of all departments and independent agencies on June 23 asking them to make a determined effort to save 10 per cent of their appropriations.

Certain fixed items, such as army and pay and ration allotments and government employees' salaries, he said, could not be cut.

Normal Granary Proposal. Discussing other subjects, the President said he will send to congress tomorrow, or Thursday, a letter in connection with the pending "ever normal granary" farm proposal.

He told reporters, however, he did not know what he would recommend. In the last few weeks he has expressed the hope informally that some farm plan along the line proposed by farm organization leaders would be enacted.

At another point he was asked if he endorsed Secretary Perkins' latest statement frowning on the sit-down strikes and the President replied he had not read her views.

Denies Accord Formula. He also said he had never heard of a report that a senator had presented a formula to the White House on how to bring together the American Federation of Labor and Committee for Industrial Organization, now at odds over organizing workers.

Asked about another report that he and John L. Lewis, head of the CIO, had broken off relations, the President said such reports did not need comment.

The President said he plans no reply to the contentions of Representative Fish, Republican, New York, that the joint congressional tax-dodging investigating committee should look into the chief executive's income tax returns.

Fish has asserted that the President has deducted losses on his property at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Torpedoed Crew Adrift In Open Boat; No Oars

LONDON, July 6.—(AP)—The British admiralty announced tonight the cruiser Penelope had searched for 19 hours for a British crew reported adrift without oars in an open boat after their ship was torpedoed off the Spanish coast.

The cruiser will quit the search, the admiralty said, when it became convinced a supposed SOS message must be from a Spanish ship.

Barcelona dispatches reported messages dated July 1, found in a small boat and reading: "We're adrift in open boat after being torpedoed by a submarine of unknown nationality about 50 miles from Barcelona."

"Captain dead. We have no oars. Please send help quickly." The message concluded. (Signed) ROB. JOHN.

$100,000 Fire Sweeps St. Simons Island Resort Hotel

Burning framework of the once palatial King-and-Prince hotel and club at St. Simons island was vividly caught in the above picture taken with an ordinary camera by Allen M. Pierce, formerly of Atlanta and now a traveling carpenter, who was fishing on the island when the $100,000 fire broke out. Hotel guests escaped with all their baggage but $2,000 in currency kept in a desk drawer was burned.

COURT WAR OPENS ON SENATE FLOOR

Robinson Defies Filibuster Threat; Roosevelt Refuses To Back Down.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(UP)—Senate Majority Leader Robinson led the supreme court reorganization fight into the personal combat stage today as President and Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, leading opponent, decided in a last-minute White House conference to fight the issue to a finish.

Robinson defied threats of filibuster and accused the supreme court of giving "unnatural meaning to the law."

The battle began without a formal gauge of strength. The senate agreed without record vote to proceed with immediate consideration of the original bill Mr. Roosevelt sent congress February 5, and Robinson offered a compromise proposal designed to permit a total of three new appointments to the supreme bench within six months.

Wheeler's unexpected meeting with the President came about through the efforts of Senator Bone, Democrat, Washington, who is favorable to Mr. Roosevelt's plan but who has joined Wheeler in proposing a constitutional amendment designed to provide a popular check on the supreme court.

Wheeler cautions F. D. R. Wheeler's associates said he told the President he had "won the decision" against the court bill due to its recent favorable decisions and the retirement of Justice Willis Van Devanter. He urged Mr. Roosevelt to withdraw the bill.

"If I were your worst enemy," Wheeler's associates quoted him as saying, "I would help you get it through. But I'm your friend and this will kill your popularity. It is the difference between your coming out as a great president or as a bad one. I don't want to see that happen to you."

But the President flatly refused, and Wheeler returned to Capitol Hill where he conferred with members of the opposition steering committee and communicated to them the decision for a finish fight.

Meanwhile Robinson, as he offered the bill in the senate, was met with a barrage of questions. He told his colleagues there had been threats of filibuster.

"If there are obstructionist tactics," he said, "I will fight them."

Burned Hotel At St. Simons To Be Rebuilt

The 40-room King-and-Prince surf hotel and club was a mass of still-warm embers yesterday, but Morgan Wynne, manager, said that plans would be advanced immediately for construction of new buildings at a cost to equal the $100,000 loss.

Meanwhile, Wynne said, club operations will be transferred to a near-by bowling alley not damaged by the fire. He added that regular nightly dances would continue in the structure now housing the bowling alleys.

Disaster Pictured. After holiday guests of the hotel had rescued their belongings and retired a safe distance to view the flames or left the scene entirely, Allen M. Pierce Jr., traveling carpenter, formerly of Atlanta, arrived with a 10-year-old box camera, pushed forward to within three yards of the burning building at places to make pictures of the fire-wreathed lodge.

Running up on the ocean-view porch of the hotel, Pierce snapped a picture inside the burning building.

PASSENGER CRAFT SPAN SEA SAFELY

Clipper Only Takes Half a Day on Hop to Ireland, British Ship 15 Hours.

The North Atlantic was spanned by two commercial flying boats yesterday, heralds of continent-to-continent air service for passengers, mail and express.

The 19-ton British Imperial Airways flying boat Caledonia streaked across the ocean east to west in the official time of 15 hours, 28 minutes.

A tail wind helping it, the Pan-American Clipper III, United States flying boat of 22 3/4 tons, crossed in the opposite direction in 12 hours, 29 minutes, the official time.

The starting points and termini of the long over-water hops were Botwood, Newfoundland, and Foyens, Irish Free State, separated by almost 2,000 miles of open turquoise sea.

Nazis Assail Ambassador Bingham For Stinging Criticism of Despots

BERLIN, July 6.—(AP)—Germany's official news agency distributed throughout the Reich tonight a German newspaper's editorial assailing Robert W. Bingham, United States ambassador to London, for his speech on despots yesterday.

The editorial, printed in the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, charged that Bingham's speech at an American Independence Day observance in London "incited the so-called democracies against the so-called dictatorships in almost unbelievable fashion."

3 REPUBLIC MILLS REOPEN FOR WORK

3,000 Men Enter Plants as Pickets Shout 'Scabs' But Offer No Violence.

By the Associated Press. Steel mills in another major salient in the seven-state strike opened in Cleveland yesterday. An estimated 3,000 workers returned to their posts at three Republic Steel Corporation plants after 41 days of idleness.

Jeers and shouts of "scab!" marked the maneuver—the latest in a series of back-to-work marches—but there was no violence. National guard bayonets and machine-guns kept the peace. The Cleveland mills, shut tight since the strike broke out on May 26, had been regarded as one of the CIO's stoutest strongholds.

At Youngstown, Ohio, the Mahoning county grand jury returned indictments against more than 200 persons, including Robert Burke and John Stevens, alias Stevenson, ousted SWOC organizers.

Burke, a former student at Columbia University, was charged with rioting in connection with battles between pickets and police here June 10 and June 19.

A three-hour pitched battle was fought between strikers and police June 19 near a plant of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company. Two were killed and more than two score injured.

The reopening of Republic's Cleveland mills, carried out under the protection of 1,000 Ohio national guardsmen, left only two steel plants still shut down in the Great Lakes strike area extending from Johnstown, Pa., to Indiana Harbor, Ind.

Plant Remains Idle. Youngstown Sheet & Tube's mills at Indiana Harbor, employing 7,000 workers, remained "padlocked." Police reported that 380 men were in the Youngstown plant at South Chicago, but the company did not disclose the nature or extent of operations there.

An estimated 3,000 pickets patrolled Sheet & Tube's East Chicago plant last night to prevent any attempt at reopening as state and union officials predicted settlement of the strike there "within the next day or two."

Joseph Jozwiak, 42-year-old picket, was killed yesterday at the Menominee plant of the strike.

SURGICAL KILLER'S CARVED-UP VICTIM IS TENTH IN SERIES

Cleveland's Three-Year-Old Mystery Revived by Gruesome Discovery of Another Dismembered Body in Cuyahoga River

ONLY TWO OF SLAIN EVER IDENTIFIED

No Clue Has Been Found to Murderer Who Cuts Up Victims' Bodies in Workmanlike Manner.

CLEVELAND, July 6.—(AP)—Detectives picked up the old, cold trail through the barren Kingsbury run district of Cleveland tonight in search of the maddened killer whose tenth victim—beheaded and carved into a half dozen pieces—was found in the only Cuyahoga river today.

Ten times within the last three years the detectives have started away from a torso bearing the marks of a surgically skilled slayer and nine times have wound up with no solution—no clues of value.

Today's victim, a towering, powerful man weighing between 180 and 190 pounds, was found by national guardsmen, here on strike duty, a short time after a lake freighter moved up the stream.

Coroner S. R. Gerber, who has warned police on previous occasions that the killer probably was "making friends" with his next victim, said five portions of the body had been recovered from the river.

The legs had been severed at the hips and both thighs were recovered. The left upper arm also was cut into two pieces.

Organs Removed From Body. "This man has been carved up just like the others," the coroner said. "The only difference is that in this case all the organs except the lungs were removed from the body."

The head, as in most of the previous cases, was not found and police despaired of identifying the tenth victim. Only two of the others—a man and a woman—have been identified.

The headless body of Mrs. Florence Polilla, 41, once arrested in a vice raid, was found in a vacant lot.

WELFARE DISCORD DENIED IN BALDWIN

County Prepares To Proceed With Certification of Security Applicants.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., July 6.—(AP)—The Rev. T. J. McNamara, chairman of the Baldwin county welfare board, said arrangements were completed with the county commissioners today to begin immediate certification of social security applicants.

He said the State Welfare Department has allocated $1,850 a month for the next three months to the county and "we will attempt to secure payments for July if we can certify the applicants in time."

Chairman Oscar Ennis, of the commissioners, said the board, entering the new program "by feeling our way," voted a special appropriation of $50 for the month of August to aid in the administrative work.

"We will try that for a month and see how it works," he said.

"So far, the state has not made any money available directly to the county."

"Our paupers called on us today for their usual money, and we paid them in absence of assurance of money from the state."

Last Known Picture of Amelia and Noonan

Amelia Earhart and her navigator, Fred Noonan, are shown resting beside their plane at Batavia, Dutch East Indies, before resuming the round-the-world flight which ended when they were forced to land on the Pacific near Howland island. This picture, sent by radio from London to New York, is believed the last taken of the pair before their mid-ocean disaster.

Etheridge Flays Officers For Failure To Dry County

Fulton Judge, in Grand Jury Charge, Also Asks Relief Probe.

Strict enforcement of Georgia's prohibition law, complete and thorough investigations of relief conditions in Fulton county and the stamping out of "the most prevalent evil damaging our body politic—gambling"—were demanded yesterday by Judge Paul S. Etheridge, of Fulton superior court.

The demands were made as the judge swore in and charged 19 Fulton county citizens who will serve on the July grand jury. Four other members will be sworn in Friday.

Bootleggers have gotten a hold on the county because law agencies have not properly performed their duty, the judge charged.

When individuals charged with the enforcement of the prohibition law wholly and 100 per cent cease to violate it, it will be carried out as intended," the judge observed. "There is where the trouble has been. Men charged with enforcing it have been guilty of infringements of it."

"No law ever has been enforced to perfection, but I am not ready, and I don't believe you are, to admit enforcement is an impossibility," he continued.

Cites Recent Vote. The new grand jurors were told the eyes of the entire south was upon Fulton county and upon them to see what they would say about this enforcement of prohibition in Fulton county, now that the voters of the state have authorized the continuance of the dry decree and the voters of Fulton have disagreed, voting wet.

"The responsibility of the passage is not on us but it is our duty to enforce the laws you just swore to do," Judge Etheridge said. "Your opinion and mine as to what the prohibition law should be, must not enter the picture."

Persons able to work and who do not accept jobs when offered them should be prosecuted as vagrants, for under the Georgia law that is what they are," he continued.

Official Encouragement. "Able-bodied men on relief, being supported by public funds,

JAPANESE REPORT NEW BORDER FIGHT

Two Russians Killed in Clashes of Near-Battle Proportions at Railway.

HSINKING, Manchoukuo, July 6.—(AP)—New tension was provoked here tonight by reports of three Soviet incursions across the frontier between Siberia and northeast Manchoukuo.

Two Russian soldiers were said to have been killed and a Japanese soldier wounded in a series of border clashes that approached the scope of a battle between sizeable armies.

Grave concern was expressed officially because the reported hostilities followed so soon after the strain on Russo-Japanese relations caused by the dispute sovereignty of two islands in the Amur river on the same border.

Russians Evacuated. The Russians, abiding by an agreement designed to create a basis for amicable negotiations, were said to have evacuated their forces from the disputed islands, Sennufu and Bolshoi.

It was reported, however, Soviet forces were massing on the Russian river bank facing the islands and Japanese-Manchoukuan inhabitants of the region feared a new outbreak. Japanese guns last week sank a Russian gunboat there and forced two others to flee after a Russian de-ail allegedly fired first.

Fresh protests were sent to Moscow.

Moscow Protests. In the Soviet capital, meanwhile, Benedict Kozlovsky, chief of the Far Eastern division of the Soviet foreign commissariat, conferred with the Japanese embassy's counselor over an alleged Manchoukuan - Japanese violation of the evacuation agreement.

Japanese army officers declared Soviet troops twice attacked Japanese-Manchoukuan border guards Monday near Chienhsan. They said the Russians later brought up heavy artillery and bombarded

First Major Crime on High Seas In 68 Years Nears U. S. Court

BOSTON, July 6.—(AP)—An accused crew, Edward Brennan, in custody that a seaman on a Boston-bound freighter attempted to kill his captain and burn the ship off Africa tonight set in motion machinery for trial of the first major crime on the high seas to come before the United States courts here in 68 years.

United States Attorney Francis J. W. Ford reported Thomas A. Hickok, American consul in Lagos, Nigeria, West Africa, had notified him that the freighter West Lashaway, of the American-West African line, was steaming toward Boston with a member of

F.D.R. IS CONCERNED FOR FLIER'S SAFETY

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt expressed concern today for the safety of Miss Amelia Earhart, aviatrix missing in the Pacific ocean.

The President said he was receiving frequent reports from the Navy Department on the progress of the search for her.

The navy and other government agencies, he told a press conference, were doing everything possible to find Miss Earhart and that the search had been ordered to cover as much territory as possible.

He said the search was being conducted in the south, east and north-west of Howland but virtually no unknown northward.

The Colorado, which had been heading from Honolulu toward the area north of Howland where the navy minesweeper Itasca and the British freighter Moore had been searching, planned to release its three catapult planes over the Winslow bank area late tomorrow.

Coast guard authorities said the Itasca had been placed under temporary supervision of the navy to permit better search co-ordination.

Winslow Bank lies on the northern fringe of the Phoenix islands, which center at about 280 miles southeast of Howland.

Shortly before the search planes were changed, George Palmer Putnam, husband of Miss Earhart, reported the directional bearings taken on the most likely of the mysterious radio signals from that region all pointed to the Phoenix islands.

Putnam stated if any of the numerous radio reports seemingly

GEORGIA BUILDING STEADILY GAINING OVER DEPRESSION

Atlanta Activity in June Almost Double Figure Reached in 1936.

*Reports from Georgia cities on building permits issued in the first six months of 1937 struck a prosperity note Monday.

Advances over a year ago in construction, especially of homes and business buildings, indicated a further recession of the depression.

Building activity in Atlanta started in June to a figure nearly double that of June, 1936. But for the first six months of the year the figure was slightly under that of the same period a year ago.

In the Atlanta area, building permits for the first five months were placed at $4,535,000, while for the same period last year they were $3,162,300.

Savannah reported issuance during the first half of the year of 222 building permits providing for expenditure of $598,479.52. For the same period last year the improvement values totaled $326,760.50, or $271,719.02 less.

Another large increase in building permits was recorded in Athens. Thirty-nine permits for new homes totaling $149,225 were issued last year, compared to 65 permits totaling $297,272 in the first six months of this year.

Permits for repairs showed a gain of $29,534 over last year, which marked a peak in Athens for the last 10 years.

Boosting the figures in Athens were construction of many new homes and several business houses.

Brunswick Prospering. Brunswick, not counting the $3,000,000 pulp and paper mill under construction, reported permits for the first six months of 1937 had a value of $99,874, compared with a total of $60,860 for the same period last year.

In Macon building totals were considerably below last year, but reports said more homes and business houses are being constructed this year.

The June building permits there amounted to $106,732, bringing the total for the first six months to $297,283. For the same period in 1936 the figure was $451,235.50, some of which was due to WPA projects.

Don't Let Summer Sun Kill Your Hair

Your hair-growing structure is delicate and reacts unfavorably to over exposure of hot rays of the mid-day summer sun. Such exposure may increase your hair-fall, aggravate dandruff, and start you more definitely on the road to baldness.

Call at a Thomas office today for free advice on the care of your hair during the summer months. A Thomas expert will gladly tell you how to enjoy summer sports without injury to your hair. He will tell you when and how to expose your hair to the sun; when to wear a hat; what to do about excessive perspiration on the scalp—about salt-water bathing and shower baths. He will also explain exactly how Thomas effectively ends dandruff, stops falling hair and regrows hair on the thin and bald spots. No charge is made for consultation nor for scalp examination. 1937 represented an outlay of $397,493. The total for the first six months of last year was $376,366.

Lack of complete records for previous years was reported by Cordele, but an estimate placed the amount spent up to July 1, during 1937, at $116,805. The building inspector said he had received requests for 54 permits.

Valdosta, during the first half of 1937, came within $2,000 of issuing building permits equaling the total for the whole of 1936. Not including the $200,000 Glidden company plant just outside the city, this year's permits amounted to $210,765.

In Augusta building permits totaling $128,882 were issued in June this year, compared to $38,882 in May.

J. ALLEN CLAY RITES WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for J. Allen Clay, 54, former Atlantan, will be held tomorrow, with interment in Clay cemetery at Kirkwood. H. M. Patterson & Son are in charge.

Mr. Clay died Monday in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., after a heart attack. He had been connected with the Memorial hospital at Fort Lauderdale for the past six years.

Survivors are his wife; three sons, Arthur, Walter and Shilo Clay, all of Miami; a sister, Mrs. Sam Meyer, and three brothers, W. H. and H. A. Clay, of Atlanta, and Warren Clay, of Los Angeles, California.

Outlet for Surplus Farm Produce Goal Set by Women's Market Plan

New System Developing Through State Will Be Operated Separately From Centers Established Already as Farmers' Markets, Bureau Executive Explains.

To get the town people of each county to absorb the products of the rural women of that county is the primary object of an extensive marketing system being developed by Mrs. Robin Wood, of the State Department of Agriculture, as an aid to the farm women of Georgia.

"Another part of the system," she said yesterday, "is to get the rural people selling on these markets to buy their necessities in the town in which they trade."

System Separate.

Mrs. Wood is connected with the Market Bureau of the department, but said the new system will be entirely separate from the state farmers' markets. Various civic and women's clubs will assist in organizing the markets, while arrangements have been completed for opening a central state agency in Atlanta.

Produce handled in the markets is chiefly the kind farm women specialize in making or growing. Special women's markets now are operated at Douglas, Camilla, Jackson, Lavonia and Atlanta.

All types of canned fruits or vegetables, jellies, preserves and other similar products are marketed, as well as chickens, butter, eggs and "fancy work" linens.

TORCH MURDERER PUT IN DEATH CELL

Slayer of Mrs. Fluker Scheduled To Be Executed Friday.

Mitchell Jackson, convicted torch slayer of Mrs. R. M. Fluker, last night began a three-day wait in the death cell of the state prison at Milledgeville. His execution is scheduled for Friday.

The negro is under sentence to die in the electric chair Friday for the brutal murder of his employer, who had just given him back his job.

Pinson Also Taken.

A few hours later another Atlanta negro, Clint Pinson, joined Jackson in the death cell block. Pinson is under death sentence for the slaying of Roscoe Harbin, a Peters street merchant. His execution is also scheduled for Friday.

The third Atlanta negro, originally sentenced to die at the same time, was granted another respite yesterday when the state supreme court ordered Judge James C. Davis to show cause July 19 why a mandamus granting a new trial to Will Wright should not be issued.

New Trial Denied.

Wright, negro formerly employed at Grant park zoo, was convicted for a criminal attack on a young white girl. When motion for new trial was presented before Judge Davis recently, the judge denied it and ordered the negro electrocuted Friday with the other two.

TRUCK, BUS TAGS MUST BE BOUGHT

Last Extension Near End, Owners Warned.

Marcus P. McWhorter, state motor vehicle license collector, said yesterday there "positively" will be no extension of time within which truck and bus owners must purchase new maintenance tags.

By successive edicts, Governor Rivers has extended the time to July 15.

"After this date a 20 per cent penalty will go into effect," McWhorter warned yesterday.

"There is no provision under the law for anyone to waive this penalty and it will be assessed on all persons applying for licenses after that date."

"Under the assumption that there possibly will be another extension, many people are waiting until the last minute for making applications. I advise them to purchase the tags as soon as possible and avoid a last-minute rush."

CRIMINAL PROBLEM TRACED TO SOURCE

Desire To Escape Hard Work Declared Principal Cause of Law Breaking.

Trying to get "something for nothing" is responsible for Georgia's crime problem, according to a WPA survey covering a 10-year-period ending December 31, 1935, and released yesterday.

Most frequently violated was the prohibition law, the survey showed, with a total of 37,094 persons accused of violations in 27 representative counties during the decade. In addition to this number, 5,819 were charged with driving while drunk. Referring to the youth of the majority of penitentiary admissions in Georgia, the survey showed:

"There was a time when Georgia youth looked forward to farm operations as a vocation, but such ventures in recent years have been unprofitable for the most part, and the youth from the rural regions has dreamed of occupations less arduous and promising a greater reward in money, leisure time and comfort. Likewise, the city youth, whose home has become crowded and unsatisfactory and whose working effort brings small monetary reward, tempts fortune."

Thefts Rank Second

Thefts of various sorts ranked second behind violation of prohibition laws, the survey showed.

A table listed 27,830 larcenies, exclusive of 2,440 robberies and 8,207 burglaries.

Criminal homicides were at the bottom of the list of major offenses with 2,026. However, 12,753 were charged with various criminal assaults during the decade.

Other crimes listed by the survey were: carrying deadly weapons, 3,634; disturbances of public peace, 10,471; forgery, 795; non-support, 3,125; sex crimes, 3,259; gambling, 5,835; violation of motor vehicle laws, 2,319; and miscellaneous crimes, 24,662—of which miscellaneous misdemeanors with 18,797 constituted the majority.

More Youths Enrolled

Tabulation of ages of persons charged with criminal offenses in 57 counties representing more than half the state's population showed a jump from 834 in the 17-year-old group to 1,069 in the 18-year-old group.

Other age groups were: 19 years old, 1,291; 20 years old, 1,181; 21 years old, 1,170; 22 years old, 1,207; 23 years old, 1,061; 24 years old, 863.

The decrease in the number of persons charged with crimes dropped after the youth period, the survey said, though one unlisted case was reported in which the offender was 98 years old.

Sad Is the Tale Of One Mr. May, His Freedom O'er

Jeff Mays, convicted Atlanta bootlegger, indulged in a little retrospection last night at Fulton tower—his Fourth of July celebration had not been in reality as glorious as he had thought.

He found that he was securely lodged in the tower under four charges—two for shooting at another, and one each for driving while drunk and hit and run.

Bond of $1,300 Set.

Bonds of $1,300 were assessed but, though Mays had the money to pay, he could not, for prison commissioners have ordered him held pending assignment to a convict camp to serve a 12-month sentence for violation of the state prohibition law. His sentence was recently affirmed by the court of appeals. He was free on appeal bond when he ran amok Tuesday.

The story as patched up by county police follows:

Thoroughly drunk, Mays began a series of escapades in cafes and service stations on Marietta road, near the Bolton bridge. In one cafe he became angry at two truck drivers from Akron, Ohio, A. K. Trease and R. L. Lee. He drew a pistol, fired at Lee and thrust the gun in Trease's stomach, threatening to pull the trigger.

The two grappled a few moments and then Mays jerked away and fired at the truck driver at close range. Both bullets went wild. Mays was subdued and disarmed.

Crashes Into Car.

Fleeing the cafe, Mays sped away in a borrowed car, finally coming to an abrupt halt when he crashed into the side of a parked auto belonging to J. S. Harper, of 715 Chestnut street.

Miss Ada Hens, of 703 Lindsay street, who was standing near the car, was knocked down but not injured.

Fulton Officers Clay and Jackson responded to a telephone call and enlisted the aid of Marietta police in searching for Mays. A description of the car was broadcast. Mays was arrested by County Officers Fitzgerald and Davis when they found him in the car at a filling station a short distance from the scene of the shooting.

SINGLE HEAD TO RUN MERGED JOB AGENCIES

To facilitate co-ordinated operation, the Georgia State Employment Service and the Federal Re-employment Service for the state have been consolidated under a single head, M. A. O'Connor, director of the state service, said yesterday, announcing his acceptance of a similar position with the federal agency.

W. L. Abbott, formerly director of the national service for Georgia, will serve as associate director of the federal agency. O'Connor said. State offices are located in Augusta, Columbus, Savannah, Atlanta and Macon. National re-employment offices are at Rome, Gainesville, Athens, Dublin, Tifton, Albany, Waycross, Valdosta and Griffin.

NEGRO IS FOUND DEAD UNDER TRAIN TRESTLE

A negro man, identified as Ed Shields, 38, of Bagley Park, was found with a crushed skull at the junction of the Seaboard and Southern railways near Armour station yesterday, county police reported.

The body was found lying in a creek under a trestle. A brother said that Shields left home early Saturday morning in an intoxicated condition and had not been heard from since. County police said he had apparently fallen from the trestle.

FRENCH TREASURY REPLENISHED WITH 10 BILLION FRANCS

Relief Regarded as Indication
Franc Is Now Growing Steady.

PARIS, July 6.—(AP)—Premier Camille Chautemps' government drafted decrees tonight to replenish France's depleted treasury with 10,000,000,000 francs (about $386,500,000).

The step was taken after the treasury relaxed the Bank of France's discount rate, dropping it from 6 to 5 per cent.

Lowering of the rate, made possible because the "floating franc" steadied in foreign exchange markets, was accompanied by reductions on interest on loans on securities from 7 to 6 per cent and interest on 30-day loans from 6 to 5 per cent.

This relief for business and industry was regarded in financial

Harlow's Fiance Returns to Camera

HOLLYWOOD, July 6.—(AP)—William Powell returned to his work before the cameras today after spending almost a month in seclusion following the death of his fiancee, Jean Harlow.

For several days after the funeral, Powell remained at home. He spent some days on Ronald Colman's yacht. Several times he has visited the mausoleum where Miss Harlow's body lies in a crypt purchased by Powell.

quarters as an indication that the franc was growing steady and extreme measures no longer were necessary to fight speculation. It was the first easing of credit since the franc was devalued June thirtieth.

Reports of limited repatriation of French capital from London also were heard in financial quarters coupled with indications that the French stabilization fund had been acquiring foreign exchange. This would place it in a better position to defend the franc should the currency not be able to stand on its feet.

With the authority recently granted the government to repair the national credit by decree, the finance ministry sought a plan which, officials said, would be aimed against tax evasion. They said its yield was estimated at 2,000,000,000 francs.

The program which, if the predictions are fulfilled, would more than wipe out the regular budget deficit of 8,000,000,000 francs, was to be submitted to the cabinet after parliament adjourns tomorrow night.

2,100 Made Idle.

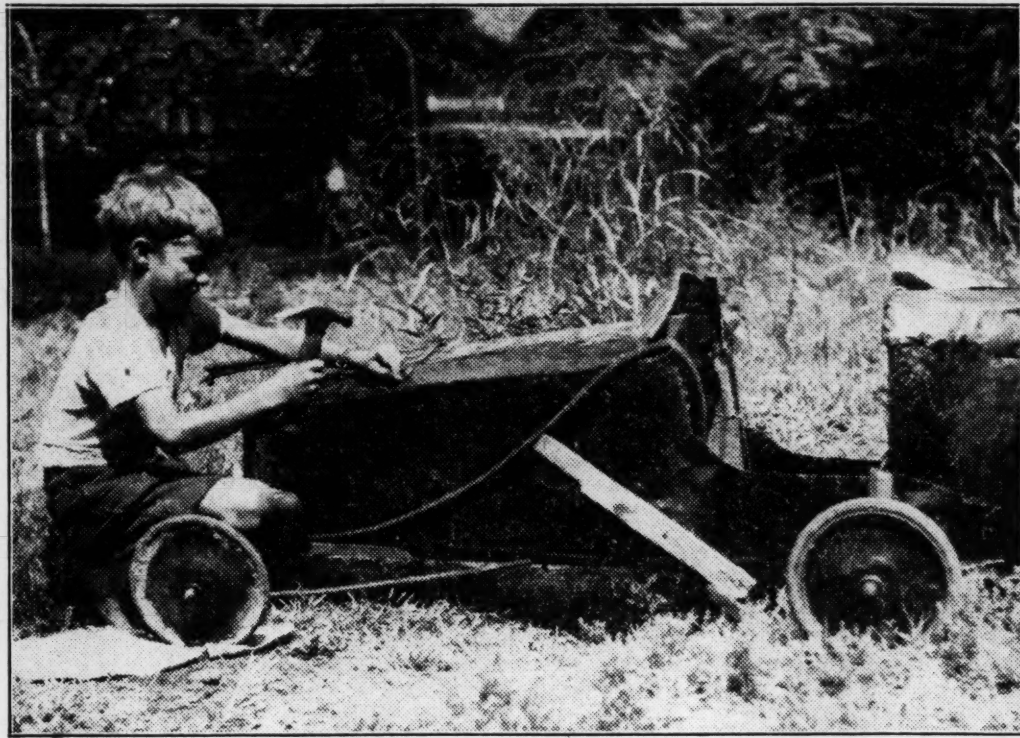

Chrysler Corporation's Dodge truck plant in Detroit suspended operations yesterday after some members of the United Automobile Workers of America went on strike in protest against a non-union worker. About 2,100 employees were made idle.

The Ford Motor Company and 15 individuals were named in an assault warrant in Detroit yesterday as the result of a one-man grand jury inquiry into the beating of United Automobile Workers leaders and members trying to distribute literature at Ford's main plant May 26.

The request was issued by common pleas Judge Ralph W. Liddy a few hours after the National Labor Relations board opened a hearing on its complaint, which charged the Ford Company with unfair labor practices and with repression of "malicious and brutal assaults" on the unionists.

Counsel for the Inland Steel Company in Chicago demanded yesterday a list of members of the CIO-affiliated Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Look Out Boys, This Derby Entry Means Business

Good boys like bad pennies always keep coming back and that is what Raymond Trollinger, of 332 Richmond street, intends to do in the 1937 Atlanta Soap Box Derby July 24. He entered the local races last year and lost, but this year he is building a racer, shown above, which he confidently expects to shower dust in the faces of other entrants. Preliminaries of the local race will begin July 22 at Soap Box Derby Downs on North Side drive. Races will be run in heats of three. Boys reaching the finals will race Saturday afternoon, July 24, for the right to represent The Constitution in the north Georgia championship competition, a race which will be run immediately following the local derby. The winner will enter the All-American derby at Akron August 15.

The request was advanced at renewed hearings on the union's charge that Inland violated the Wagner act by refusing to sign a contract. It was taken under advisement by Examiner Charles A. Wood, of the National Labor Relations Board.

A trio of company attorneys, who bolted the inquiry Saturday, returned after they won permission from the NLRB in Washington to make a full stenographic transcript of proceedings.

have declined to accept employment when offered. It is not difficult to find agencies wanting men to work in the fields and these men have declined to accept them. To a certain extent they have received official encouragement because the scale of wages is not prevailing.

The superior court judge termed it an outrage that this condition exists and said experience of the ages had taught farmers could pay as high wages as public works.

Jobs on farms are not plentiful at the present time, the judge remarked, but declared farmers would be needing men for the harvest about the time the present grand jury returns its presentments.

Flays Gambling. As for gambling, the judge declared this was the most dangerous evil facing the body politic in that it was not confined to any one class but to all. He referred to the "alarming" number of gambling cases that have been brought to his attention since assuming office last January. In speaking of gambling, Judge Etheridge emphasized that he was not merely speaking of the bug game, "which is not by any means the whole story of gambling in Fulton county."

Gambling condition recommendations were requested of the jury because "other jurors have not given much attention to this evil."

Tharpe Named Foreman. Following the judge's charge, the jurors elected Mack Tharpe, line coach at Georgia Tech, foreman, and R. H. Vogel, superintendent of the Southeastern Express Company, secretary.

Other jurors sworn are: J. F. McNair, 4200 Gordon road, Adamsville, grocer; George Phillips, 1162 Oglethorpe avenue, S. W. printer with the Ruralist Press; L. I. Burdett, Route 1, Dunwoody; J. A. 2 POLICE SCHOOLS WILL OPEN MONDAY

"Rookie" Instruction and Traffic Course To Be Given Here.

Summer school for Atlanta policemen will open Monday on the third floor of the police station, officials announced last night. Two divisions of the school will be operated.

In preparation for the classes, 100 new chairs have been purchased and installed in the classroom. Now the entire third floor of the Decatur street building is occupied by the schoolrooms and the gym.

Captain Phil Dorr, former director of the Pennsylvania highway patrol, will conduct a regular police school primarily for the "rookies" three times a week beginning at 8 o'clock Monday night, it was said. The course will run for four weeks, and will include instruction in pistol firing and cleaning, first aid and general police tactics.

Captain Ray Ashworth, formerly of the Wichita (Kan.) police department and now assistant to Lieutenant Frank Kreml, safety director of the International Association of Police Chiefs, will conduct a two weeks' course for traffic officers beginning at 10 o'clock Monday. Classes will be held daily and J. R. Van Arsdale, field representative of the National Safety Council, will assist in the instruction.

Captain Dorr is to arrive in Atlanta tomorrow.

Wrecked Auto Hit by 2 Trains; 2 Brothers Hurt

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 6.—(AP)—Irving Capell, 22, dragged his injured brother, Bernard, 23, from the wreckage of an automobile today a few minutes before the vehicle was tossed by a speeding New Haven railroad train into the pathway of a second express.

The automobile, falling to round a curve, plunged through a fence to the railroad tracks 30 feet below where it was struck by a train bound from New York to Boston.

The wreckage of the auto was carried 300 feet and dropped to an adjacent track where it was struck by The Owl, Boston to New York Express, speeding in the opposite direction.

The accident, which happened shortly after 4 a. m., delayed about a dozen trains.

The brother, Irving, a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Bernard, of Washington, D. C., were taken by bystanders to a hospital where attendants said both would recover.

BROWNING'S DAUGHTER TO SEEK ESTATE SHARE

NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP)—Surrogate James Delehanty said today he would set an August date for trial of a suit by Marjorie Browning, of New Rochelle, N. Y., for a share of the $7,000,000 estate left by the late E. W. (Daddy) Browning.

The daughter of Mrs. Nellie Adele Browning, first wife of the millionaire real estate man, has announced she would accept a settlement of $1,000,000 as damages for the failure of Browning to provide for her in his will.

Smallpox Eradicated in Atlanta, Re-elected Health Officer Says

Smallpox has been eradicated in Atlanta, Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, commented yesterday.

The physician was re-elected city health officer yesterday for a four-year term.

Looking back over the 36-year period he has held the office of director of the city health department, Dr. Kennedy asserted the discovery of the English Dr. Jenner that milk maids seldom had smallpox has "increased the world's population by 30 per cent."

He reported that not a single case of smallpox has been discovered in Atlanta for more than five years, a record made possible only because of enforced vaccination. He pointed out that in other states where vaccination is not compulsory by law, as many as 40 deaths per year occur.

"A hundred years ago nearly 90 per cent of all people had smallpox and they died by the thousands," the doctor said. "It was a disease that respected no classes and kings and queens were pockmarked as well as the peasantry. George Washington had smallpox. It caused the death of millions of persons before Dr. Jenner found that milk maids frequently vaccinated themselves unconsciously from the cow pox sores on the animals they milked. From this source, the cow pox, we still get our vaccine."

"If he had not made that discovery and if we did not have vaccine to combat smallpox now, the world's population would be at least 30 per cent less than it is now," he declared.

Dr. Jenner developed vaccine for smallpox about 140 years ago. "From him we learned how to vaccinate and this has proved invaluable in fighting other diseases," the health officer said.

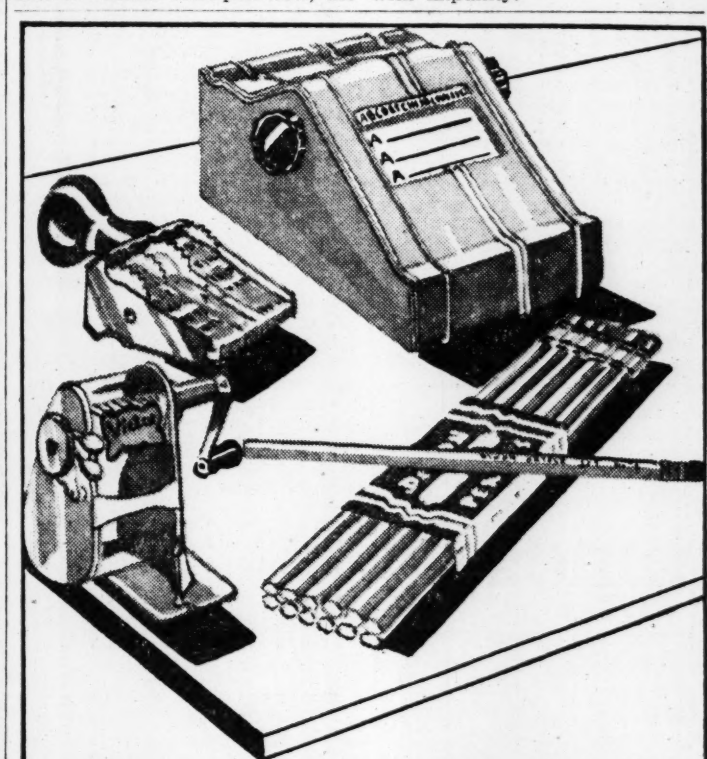

The war on other diseases has not proved so successful as that against smallpox, according to Dr. Kennedy. "We have still lots to learn about scarlet and typhoid fever, measles, whooping cough and common colds."

Catholic Daughters Hear
High Churchmen.

BRETTON WOODS, N. H., July 6.—(AP)—Co-operation and mutual sharing, rather than class war, was seen by the Very Rev. Francis P. Lyons, of Chicago, as the solution of the nation's economic difficulties in an address tonight to the seventeenth biennial national convention of the Catholic Daughters of America.

In a similar address, the Most Rev. Francis J. L. Beckman, archbishop of Dubuque, Iowa, urged a closer study of the encyclical of Pope Pius XI to bring a better knowledge of the dignity of the human personality, "which God respects and no man may violate with impunity."

ONLY 101 SCOUTS ILL AT JAMBOREE

Medical Officer Congratulates 27,000 Boys on State of Health.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—The chief medical officer of the Boy Scout jamboree congratulated the 27,000 boys tonight on the state of their health.

Dr. W. L. Smith, of New Orleans, public health service surgeon, said only 101 cases of sickness had been reported in a week. Dr. Smith reported the condition of the two youths most seriously ill is good. Stanley Brown Jr., of Marblehead, Mass., underwent an operation for a ruptured spleen Sunday. Orr Hamilton, of 2139 Sussex avenue, Duluth, Minn., suffered a scalp wound, bruises and a slight concussion when an automobile struck him while he walked to the city's fireworks display last night.

Ruins of Resort Hotel Attest Fury of Holiday Blaze

Little was left of the 40-room King-and-Prince hotel on St. Simons island when the cameraman made this shot. The flames swept both the hotel and the adjoining club, doing an estimated $100,000 damage and partially spoiling the night's plans of hundreds of pleasure seekers, guests for the holidays.

Smoke and flames are shown above in the process of destroying the St. Simons island resort hotel Monday as hundreds of holiday visitors watched. The view above shows one entrance. The pictures were taken by a former Atlantan, Allen M. Pierce Jr., who was attracted by the smoke to the scene from his secluded fishing spot near by.

ing and jumped back to safety just as the ceiling fell. On another occasion, he tried to reach a burning window for another inside shot but the heat forced him back after he had gotten within three yards of his goal, he said.

Pierce had been fishing when he saw the smoke, and being an amateur photographer realized he might get some good shots. Throwing down his fishing tackle, he set out for the beach hotel.

He got about 16 shots and last night he brought them to The Constitution. Three of them are reproduced in this edition.

Pierce has been taking pictures about seven years, and for the past three years has been developing his own negatives. Included in his collection are some fine shots of automobile wrecks and boating scenes.

Holiday pleasure seekers, undismayed by the fire, packed the adjacent open air dance floor and danced by the glow of embers from the burning ruins of the fashionable hotel. The Fourth of July dance scheduled for Monday night went on uninterrupted.

Hotel guests escaped with all of their baggage, it was said, and a greater part of the furnishings of the hotel were saved by residents of the island and coast guardsmen who sought vainly to pump water from the surf onto the burning buildings. Lost in the fire, however, was $2,000 in currency in a desk drawer, Wynne said.

A row of cottages north of the club were saved when the wind switched, to carry flames in the opposite direction. Origin of the fire was reported to be in a small cupola in the luxuriously furnished club. Defective wiring was indicated by firemen as the possible cause of the fire.

Woman Finds 'Twin' In Name, Birthday

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 6. (AP)—When Mrs. Della Weeks was introduced to Mrs. Della Weeks here, the two began comparing other facts about themselves. They were surprised to learn that each was born on October 6, 1884, and each weighed the same. They aren't related and had never heard of each other before.

Both women live here but failed to meet until they attended a meeting of the Woodmen of the World. They were introduced and began asking each other questions.

One Mrs. Weeks was born in Winder, Ga., and married Ross T. Weeks. She has lived here 12 years.

The other Mrs. Weeks was born in Paterson, N. J., and married W. Weeks at Fernandina, Fla., in 1917. She has lived here about 20 years.

VICTIM OF KILLER IS FOUND IN RIVER

lot near the Kingsbury Run area south of the downtown district in January, 1936. She was identified through fingerprints.

The headless and nude body of Edward Andressy, 28, was found in September, 1935, near Kingsbury run, a small stream that wanders through south East Cleveland, with that of another unidentified man. Although they studied Andressy's life and habits for weeks, police were never able to explain his death.

Four Women Victims.

The bodies of two of the four women who have lost their heads to the madman were found in Lake Erie, miles from Kingsbury run. A month ago, the skeleton of the ninth victim, a negro woman of about 35, was found under a bridge over the Cuyahoga river, not far from the place where the torso was discovered today.

Detectives have arrested scores of suspects—mostly eccentrics found acting queerly or carrying knives. They have scoured Kingsbury run's entire length, draining portions of it. They have tramped through storm sewers and searched the shore of Lake Erie for miles. All the suspects were released, the storm sewer, Kingsbury run and the shore of Lake Erie revealing nothing of value.

The only apparent remaining reality after each investigation was the warning of Coroner Gerber: "The killer may be making friends with his next victim."

POLICE START HUNT FOR NUDIST COLONY

SPRING VALLEY, N. Y., July 6.—(AP)—Police Chief Abe Stern led a search in woods near here today for a reputed nudist colony where, he said, might be found the answer to the death of a man Sunday two miles from town.

The body, the head bashed, was unclothed except for socks and shoes. Chief Stern said he was following a "tip" in searching for a nudist colony.

BAIL DENIED WOMAN IN KIDNAPING CASE

HOBOKEN, N. J., July 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Loretta Grabowski, 21, was held without bail for grand jury action today when she was arraigned in police court on a charge of kidnaping 3-year-old Bella McCarthy, whom she met in a park.

The alleged abduction occurred Saturday afternoon. The next day, police said, Mrs. Grabowski went to Jersey City police headquarters with the child.

Police Inspector Daniel Kiely said the woman, estranged from her husband, was suffering from "mother frustration."

ORLANDO, Fla., July 6.—(AP)—W. C. Appling, of Orlando, was seriously injured today when a cow, which he tried to drive from his front lawn, gored and stomped him.

2 SCOTTSBORO BOYS ARRAIGNED AT DECATUR

DECATUR, Ala., July 6.—(AP)—Rumors of "compromise" dissipated today as the stage was set for another series of trials in the widely publicized "Scottsboro case" involving charges of mass rape of two white women by nine negroes.

Eight of the accused negroes were brought here from a Birmingham, Ala., jail today. Two were arraigned, their trials being set for next week; and Judge W. W. Callahan outlined plans for trials within the next four weeks of all the remaining defendants.

Peter Ballantine lifted his glass 3 times

TIME: 1840. Place, Peter Ballantine's brewery in Newark. . . The founder and brewmaster himself had just completed his three-fold test of a keg of ripened brew, and pronounced it "per-r-r-ect!"

Being a Scot, he trusted his taste beyond any man's. "It ha' the PUR-R-R-ITY, the BODY, the FLAVOR-R-R," was his verdict. On the table were three moisture rings left by his glass as he made the tests.

"Thr-r-ree tests—thr-r-ree rings—the sign of a good brew," he mused. "Lads, I ha' my trademark! Ye'll put the thr-r-ree rings of quality on every keg."

SENATE COMMITTEE WILL BALLOT TODAY ON WAGE-HOUR BILL

Drastic Revision of Black-Conerney Measure Is Indicated.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(UP)—Senator Black, Democrat, Alabama, chairman of the senate education and labor committee, announced today his group will vote tomorrow on reporting the Black-Conerney wage and hour bill. He declined to discuss probable committee action, but other senators indicated the group has virtually agreed on a revised measure drastically limiting the powers proposed for the labor standards board so its regulation of wages and hours will be within certain bounds. This change, it was said, will "practically eliminate" major controversy on the bill.

A minimum wage of $12 or $16 per week and a maximum week of 35 or 44 hours were said to be likely of adoption, with exemptions for seasonal industries such as fruit raising or canning. In addition, President Roosevelt would be given authority to increase the tariff on various products 50 per cent, on investigation, it appeared the wage-hour act was harming an industry.

The bill's collective bargaining provisions probably will be subordinated to the Wagner labor act, drawn "to benefit those who cannot avail themselves of the Wagner act," as one senator expressed it.

bulent water and freakish weather born in the arctic.

"It was a great trip," commented Captain A. S. Wilcockson, of the Caledonia, singularly lacking in inventive descriptions for a man who had just flown the Atlantic.

Captain Harold E. Gray, of the clipper, was not much better. "It was a pleasant, enjoyable trip," he said.

But to those thousands who massed at Botwood and Forties to watch two groups of fliers usher in a new era in transportation, the occasion had portents which warranted cheers.

They yelled their enthusiasms as the two silver-hulled, four-engined winged boats settled on the water at either side of the Atlantic and the crews clambered out to receive their welcomes.

The flights, for survey purposes, began at Southampton, England, and Port Washington, N. Y., and there they will end. The Caledonia is due at the little Long Island community Friday and the clipper at Southampton Thursday.

In all, the clipper will fly some 3,400 miles to link Great Britain with the United States. The Caledonia will fly 3,560, veering northwest to Montreal before proceeding down to Port Washington.

Captain Wilcockson and his crew of three, including a doctor, left the Caledonia at 5:06 a. m. (Atlantic time), having maintained a speed of 132 miles an hour en route. Gray and his crew of six came down on the River Shannon at 10:50 a. m., British summer time (4:50 a. m., Atlantic time), for an average speed of 156 miles an hour.

Regular transatlantic service by air probably will be established next spring by Imperial Airways and Pan-American Airways.

BRITAIN TESTS ROUTE VIA LISBON, AZORES
LISBON, Portugal, July 6.—(AP)—The Imperial Airways plane Cambria arrived here today on an experimental flight from London. Pilots consulted authorities and a Pan-American Airways delegate with a view to establishment of a trans-Atlantic air line route to America via Lisbon and the Azores.

Killed by Trolley Car

MRS. W. L. BURDETTE.

HIT BY TROLLEY, WOMAN IS KILLED

Motorman, Victim's Cousin, Says Woman Ran in Path of Car.

Fatally injured when struck by a street car operated by a cousin, Mrs. Walter L. Burdette, 24, of 1589 Bankhead highway, died shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning on an operating table at Grady hospital as physicians tried desperately to save her.

Mrs. Burdette was crossing the street in front of her home early yesterday morning, apparently to enter the car of a friend who was struck by an in-bound Almond Park trolley, police reported.

Too Late to Stop.

L. D. Adair, 31, of 40 Center Hill avenue, operator of the street car, told officers Mrs. Burdette ran across the street in front of the car from the left side. He applied the brakes but the car's momentum was not checked in time.

The operator did not learn until hours later that the woman his car had struck was his second cousin.

Mrs. Burdette was taken to the West Side Funeral Home by a motorist and there placed in an ambulance and taken to Grady hospital, where she died a few minutes later. An emergency skull operation to relieve pressure of a fracture was immediately undertaken but the patient died before it could be accomplished.

County police have begun an investigation of the accident.

Two Sons Survive.

Mrs. Burnette is survived by her husband; two children, Sherron, 3, and Walter Jr., 5; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Adair; three sisters, Mrs. Harold Wadsworth, Miss Catherine Adair, Miss Merrell Adair, and two brothers, Sharron and Lynam Adair.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow at Western Heights Baptist church with the Rev. W. M. Albert officiating. Burial will be in Hollywood cemetery.

C. W. Shuttley, 68, of 320 Moreland avenue, who was seriously injured when struck last Thursday by a motorcycle ridden by City Officer Harry McWilliams, was reported near death at Grady hospital last night.

He sustained a broken left leg, a fractured left shoulder and a broken collar bone in the accident. Officer McWilliams was treated for abrasions on the arms and left knee. The accident occurred at Moreland avenue and Langley street. Shuttley was a pedestrian.

ties," he said in formal defiance, "it is my intention to keep the bill before the senate until it is disposed of, making such reasonable allowance as may be necessary for such emergency measures as may arise.

"I shall not object to laying the bill aside from time to time for emergency business. If a filibuster develops, I shall conduct myself as my judgment requires.

After the senate recessed Wheeler and other steering committee members met. Senator Burke, Democrat, Nebraska, said later, "We'll talk long enough to be sure the congress and the country fully understand the situation."

Chief Hornsby Declares Example Best Way To Win Respect For Law

Any Breach of Statutes Dangerous, Police Head Tells Atlanta Ministers in First of Addresses by Officers Before Association.

By LOUIE D. NEWTON,
President Atlanta Baptist Ministry Association.

Chief M. A. Hornsby of the Atlanta police department addressed the Atlanta Baptist ministers in their regular weekly meeting Monday morning, opening a series of addresses during July by prominent local civic officials on the subject of citizenship. The chief was in fine fettle, winning his hearers immediately with the declaration that he did not pose as a public speaker but that he did have some matters of great conviction with reference to law observance and law enforcement which he was happy to discuss with a group of citizens whom he had reason to believe were themselves interested in good government.

Liberty Within Law.

"This country has been built on the principle of liberty within law," said Chief Hornsby, "and any person who holds law in contempt is an enemy of his nation. It doesn't matter whether I agree with the law or not; if it is the law, duly enacted and on the statute books of a municipality, state or nation, I must accept it as the law, or I set myself against the principle of democracy. History does not record an instance of any nation that has been able to survive contempt for its laws."

"For example," continued Chief Hornsby, "I am a dry, and I don't care who knows it, but suppose for the sake of illustration that I was a wet—that voted to repeal prohibition—and a majority of the people of the state voted to retain the law forbidding the manufacture, distribution and sale of liquor in Georgia, I could not, as an officer of the law, nor as a citizen of the state, debate for a moment my duty to observe and enforce the law. I regard with much apprehension the tendency now and then expressed to disregard the laws we do not like. You can't have a democracy under that sort of attitude."

"I am sometimes asked how we are to go about teaching good citizenship. My answer to that important question always is this: The best way I know to teach good citizenship is by example. What would my boy think of me as an officer of the law if I told him not to drink liquor and in 30 minutes he found me drinking? The home is the unit of our strength as a civilization, and the parents must accept the responsibility which is upon them to teach good citizenship by example before their children if they expect them to observe the laws of the land when they become of age. A father can't violate traffic laws on his way to Sunday school and expect his child sitting by him to overlook that bad example of citizenship."

Responsibility Cited.

Chief Hornsby reminded the preachers that they had a heavy responsibility as leaders to keep ever before the people the Bible's clear teachings concerning citizenship, and he emphasized the fact that every preacher is himself a citizen, responsible for the right sort of example as well as the right sort of sermons. He said that the best service any preacher can render his church and community is to live the right sort of life before his people.

"You have a lot of so-called good citizens in Atlanta who are playing the 'bug,'" said Chief Hornsby, "and whether they do it in a sense of fun or to make money, it is gambling just the same. We abhor the idea of sending our boys off to war to kill and be killed, but when we violate any law, be it a traffic ordinance, the law against gambling, the law against making and selling and buying liquor, or what not, whenever we violate the law, we are creating a situation which means warfare for our children, maybe more deadly than facing bullets on a battlefield."

"There are two great desires that I have for my own life. First, I want to be a true Christian, and second, I want to be a good policeman. I do not ask anybody to back me up because of politics, but I want to do my duty because it is right. I am willing to let politics take care of itself. I want to see Atlanta a law-abiding city, and to that end I have dedicated my life, and I respectfully call upon the good people of this community to lend themselves full length all the time in observing the law and upholding our hands as we try to enforce it," said Chief Hornsby.

Mayor William B. Hartsfield will be the speaker at the meeting next Monday. Chief George Mathieson, of the Fulton county police, and Chief Joseph T. Dailey, of the DeKalb county police, will be the other speakers during July. The public is invited to attend these meetings every Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the First Baptist church.

"We appeared before the commissioners at our first opportunity to arrange details of administration."

Will Certify Applicants.

"We intend to start certifying applicants immediately, and to obtain pension payments for them this month, if we can complete the certification work soon enough. The only question now is one of time. We are ready to start the program in full."

Ennis declared the county commission "is co-operating with the state board, but we are feeling our way. It is a new program, and we are just entering it with caution."

He said further, "we are ready to put up our 10 per cent share of the pensions as soon as we can get the pensions paid."

Under the social security system, counties requisition the state board for pension payments, accompanying their requisitions with 10 per cent of the cost of pensions called for. The state board then will remit checks directly to the beneficiaries for the full amount, the state paying 40 per cent of the remaining cost, and the federal government 50 per cent.

NAZIS ASSAIL ENVOY FOR DESPOT SPEECH

said editorially "seldom does an ambassador permit himself to use language as emphatic as Mr. Bingham's."

("Of American aloofness from foreign entanglements not a word. As the ambassador sees it, America and Britain stand together resisting the challenge which despotism is offering to democracy.")

Asserting Bingham's speech was "an appeal for competitive armament," the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung declared:

"This diplomat has such a peculiar conception of his official mission and a mentality so foreign to us that it would be a waste of breath to argue with him."

"With an unmistakable reference to Germany and Italy," the paper continued, "he spoke of peoples which don't listen to reason and glorify war as a cult."

"Any American diplomat ought to know," it said, "that Germany was forced to follow others in rearmament."

CAMP INJURY DAMAGES.

Former Atlantan Is Dead

H. B. EVINS.

H. B. EVINS FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY

Former Atlantan Will Be Buried Here This Afternoon.

Funeral services for Herman Bayne Evins, former Atlantan, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill. Mr. Evins died Monday shortly after a heart attack while at a suburban golf course near Chicago, Ill. Services will be conducted by the Rev. M. Ashby Jones.

Graduating from the Atlanta Law School, Mr. Evins, a native of Rome, began his business career in Atlanta and was associated with the law firm of Reuben & Lowry Arnold until 1925, when he became affiliated with the Coca-Cola Company here. He took over management of the Boston bottling plant in 1930 and subsequently was transferred to Baltimore as manager of the Coca-Cola plant.

Mr. Evins was vice president of the parent bottling concern, the Western Coca-Cola Bottling Company, which has headquarters in Chicago, at the time of his death. Pallbearers will be:

Edwin P. Lochridge, Dr. Clarence L. Laws, Clement A. Evans, William A. Sutherland, William Hart Sibley, Dr. W. Perrin Nicolson, Arnold Skeen and Lawrence Willet. An honorary escort will be formed by Reuben Arnold, Robert B. Troutman, Ernest Woodruff, George Woodruff, Murdoch Equen, Rutherford Lipscomb and the following from the Coca-Cola Company:

A. A. Acklin, DeSales Harrison, Toulman Hurt, Holland Judkins, Dan Holland, S. F. Boykin, W. G. Lamb, John L. Edmondson, William Felton, R. A. Whitley Jr. and A. C. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Evins and their two daughters, Carolyn and Margaret, had made their home at Winnetka, a suburb of Chicago, since Mr. Evins assumed the vice presidency of the parent bottling company in the early part of 1936. Mrs. Evins, the former Miss Maude Carlton, daughter of Mrs. James E. Carlton, 754 Myrtle street, and her daughters will arrive in Atlanta this morning for the funeral.

Messages From Foreign 'Spirits' To Be Probed by U. S. Bureau

30-Minute Record Will Be Sent to Capital by Spiritualists.

LILY DALE, N. Y., July 6.—(P)—A recording in foreign tongues of "spirit messages" which spiritualists here say are received by a British medium will be sent to the bureau of ethnology in Washington, D. C., for examination.

R. P. Pressing, editor of the Dale News, weekly newspaper in this spiritualist summer camp, said today a 30-minute record would be made for the bureau tomorrow to prove that the "messages" are delivered in authentic foreign languages.

"The medium, Horace S. Hambling, of London, speaks no Indian, Chinese or Italian except a phrase or two," Pressing said. "The record, however, will begin with 10 minutes of conversation in Indian, from the Indian spirit, Moon Trail. This will be followed by 10 minutes in Chinese from the spirit of Ruan Fu, and 10 minutes in Italian from the spirit 'Tony'."

These are the three spirits who, spiritualist leaders here say, controlled the vocal cords of the medium Hambling in what was announced last week as the "first recording of messages from the dead."

Pressing said the Bureau of Ethnology investigation was suggested by John J. O'Neill, science editor of the New York Herald-Tribune. The record of the messages, Pressing added, will take place in the lounge of a Lily Dale hotel tomorrow, and the witnesses will be "anyone who wishes to come."

SKIPPER DESCRIBES PIONEER SEA FLIGHT

Mere Routine, Scientifically Controlled Assignment, Gray Radios.

By HAROLD E. GRAY, Captain, Pan-American Clipper III (Copyright, 1937, by The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

FOYNES, Ireland, July 6.—(By Wire)—When a dark smudge appeared through the misty curtain, 30 miles through the first break in a gray horizon that held unchanging since the sun disappeared behind low-hanging cloud banks off the Newfoundland coast last night, First Officer William De Lima, sharing the bridge watch with me, turned slightly, nodded his head and said, "There she is."

A few minutes later we made out the village of Foynes itself and then familiar objects—radio towers, buildings, shipping in the harbor took on more definite shape through the mist. Until then, I must confess, the first trans-Atlantic transport survey flight from America had been just another flight operation based upon the same rigid engineering specifications that have long become standards with the Pan-American Airways system.

Not Difficult. The flight was in no manner difficult. To us, it meant the completion of an assignment satisfactory in every respect and accomplished in a manner that should aid the acceptance of trans-Atlantic air transport as a dependable, properly safeguarded means of modern travel.

During the first half of the flight, the going was remarkably smooth. The skies above us were clear, so filled with stars that we checked our course with celestial sights every 30 minutes. As we neared the halfway mark, we checked bearings with the R. M. A. Caledonia, actually passing within 60 miles of us. Of course, we did not see them. They were nearly 10,000 feet below us at that time.

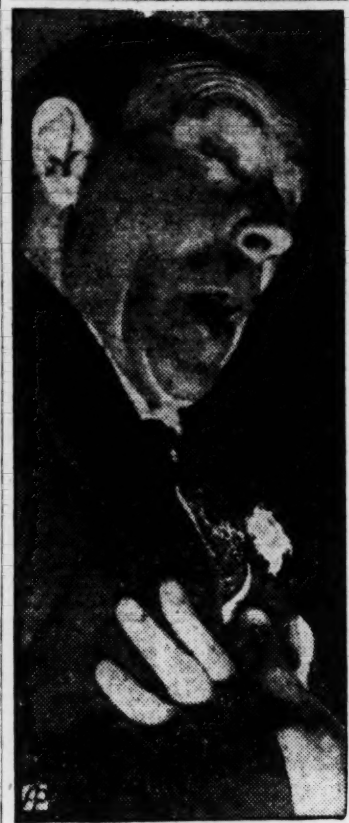

Check With 9 Ships. Two hours farther on we ran into the first rain. We made our way on instruments, watched over so carefully by our powerful radio direction-finders, while we verified the bearings coming to us from ground stations with cross-bearings taken by our own goniometer from nine different steamers.

There is no way adequately to describe this type of flying in a big transport plane, designed and equipped for ocean flying. Watching wings, tail surfaces, the sides of the big hull itself for any sign of ice formation, we seem to be sweeping along enclosed in a rich muffled roar of power that actually becomes almost a silence. The click of the radio key for instance, the whine of the transmitter as it is switched on are sharp and distinct against the engine's background. There is no horizon. There is only an infinite depth above, below, on all sides, a gray visionless depth, motionless, except where sufficient moisture gathers in one spot to spread a river of rain drops across the windshield. And through it all the blue exhaust flame from the Sikorsky's big Pratt & Whitney hornets cast an eerie glow that is reflected back into the cabin.

Jardine Brings Wife, Grievance, Mission to U. S.

By SHEILAH GRAHAM. (Copyright, 1937, by The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, July 6.—The Rev. Robert Andrew Jardine, the man who married the Duke of Windsor to the Baltimore-born Wallis Warfield, arrived yesterday on the Queen Mary on his first visit to the United States. He brought with him a wife, a mission and a grievance—the mission, to lecture on the "Brotherhood of Man"; the grievance, the non-brotherly attitude of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

"The archbishop did a cowardly, childish thing to the Duke and Duchess," declared the red-faced, chubby little parson in between sips of orange juice in the ballroom of the mammoth British liner.

"He waited until they were not in a position to fight back—when Edward had abdicated—before hurling abuse at them. But what can you expect of the archbishop? He's always been like that. He's doing the same thing now with the new divorce bill before the house of lords—refusing to vote one way or another until the bill is passed or thrown out."

Mr. Jardine became semi-mystical when questioned concerning his part in the marriage of King Edward VIII and his American bride. "There is no one in the world who knows as much about the wedding as I do," he said in his broad north-of-England accent. "I saw their faces as I performed the ceremony. I looked into their hearts. They were happy and relieved as I pronounced them man and wife. They reminded me of two children suddenly liberated from unfair imprisonment. I shall never regret my action in performing the ceremony, no matter what the cost to me."

"I have never refused to marry divorced people—if they were the innocent party," said the clergyman. "When I saw in the papers that Edward wanted a religious service, I waited for someone big, like a bishop, or even higher, to come forward for the job. As the days passed without a volunteer, my blood boiled over. I said to my wife, 'I'll do it myself.' She laughed and said, 'No one will take any notice of you.' Without consulting my wife, my children, or my bishop, I wrote to Herman Rogers, who was handling everything for the Duke.

"Before I could catch my breath, I had a passport, was on my way to France and performing the ceremony."

FORGERY IS CHARGED TO PAIR SEIZED HERE

Identification Is Reported Made in Swindle of Jesup Bank.

Two men arrested near Ponce de Leon park June 25 by federal agents were reported positively identified yesterday as the men who forged a cashier's check for several hundred dollars on the Brumby Trust Company of Jesup.

The suspects, Jett Smith, 26, of Athens, and Roy Capps, 33, of St. Louis, were arrested near the ball park by FBI agents and city detectives on suspicion of several cheating and swindling jobs throughout the state.

Announcement of the identification of the pair as those who succeeded in cashing a forged cashier's check on the South Carolina National Bank of Greenville at the Jesup bank was made by L. P. Whitfield, of the Burns Detective Agency, employed by the American Bankers' Association.

Identification was made by employees of the Jesup bank, he said. Smith and Capps, who officers said, are suspected in similar transactions totaling thousands of dollars within the past few months, have been transferred to Macon by government agents.

PITTMAN UPHOLDS ANTI-PEDDLER LAW

Cartersville Ordinance Wins Over Injunction Suit.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., July 6.—Cartersville's recently enacted anti-peddling ordinance today was upheld by Judge Claude C. Pittman.

Discussing his decision in the injunction suit of the Jewel Tea Company against the city, Judge Pittman said the city had a legal right to pass and enforce the ordinance, which prohibits house-to-house canvassing and peddling.

Statewide interest had been manifested in the case, since a number of other municipalities had indicated they planned similar legislation if the Cartersville ordinance was upheld. The case will be carried to the state supreme court, it is stated.

Brothers Wed 50 Years Ago Keep Golden Anniversary Fete Together

Atlantans Will Return Visit of Iowa Couple on Occasion of Celebration, Renewing Long Custom Observed Through Years by Families.

Fifty years ago, in 1887, two brothers were married, and 50 years later, in 1937, those same two brothers are celebrating their golden wedding anniversaries together.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Steven Chalmers, of 774 West Peachtree street, had their wedding celebration July 2 at their home, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Chalmers, of Des Moines, Iowa, came down to take part. When Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Chalmers celebrate their fiftieth anniversary on November 9, the Atlanta brother and his wife will be on hand to take part in the happy event.

Both couples were married by the same minister and they have later to become connected with the Columbia Chamber of Commerce.

Enforcement of Ban On Air Guns Asked

Enforcement of the law prohibiting shooting air rifles inside the city limits was asked yesterday by Councilman E. A. Minor.

"Boys are killing all our birds and breaking many windows with their air rifles and sling shots," he said. "It is against the law and it should be stopped." He conferred with City Clerk Joe L. Richardson.

JUNE POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW GAIN OF $36,957

Atlanta postal receipts for the month of June have shown a $36,957 increase over the corresponding month last year. Postmaster Lon W. Livingston announces yesterday.

The postal receipts for June, 1937, were $385,733, while those for June, 1936, amounted to $348,776, Livingston said. The increase was more than 10 per cent.

METHODISTS APPROVE LIQUOR ENFORCEMENT

CLAYTON, Ga., July 6.—The Gainesville district conference of the Methodist church has adopted resolutions constituting a temperance report, urging observance and enforcement of the prohibition law.

The resolutions called for support of "officers who will support the law, and retirement of officers who will not." They also urged eradication of rookeries, which the committee termed "training schools for evil;" asked for the institution of courses in alcohol education in the schools as part of a broad program of public education; advocated affiliation with the Consolidated Forces for Prohibition; urged a fight against establishment of liquor stores in wet centers; and opposed election of wet members to the next legislature.

TIME MARXES ON!

The new Marx Bros. musical "A Day at the Races" is heralded as setting a new high in lavish and laffish Hollywood productions! More excitement, more going on than a 3-ring circus! Singing, dancing, romancing, glittering spectacle, dazzling costumes, pixillating comedy and gorgeous girls galore! It's got rhythm! It's got swing! It's got everything including the Marx Bros.!

Sound the Alarm! It's the laugh-a-minute-men Harpo, Groucho, Chico in "A Day at the Races"!

It's delightfully romantic! Groucho loves Esther Muir! Allan Jones loves Maureen O'Sullivan! Harpo loves Harpo! Chico loves Chico! Imagine—all in one picture for the price of one admission.

It's deliciously melodic! Allan Jones sings "Blue Venetian Waters", "Tomorrow Is Another Day" and other tuneful Gus Kahn love songs to Maureen O'Sullivan while those famous hill-billy mountaineers, the Marx Bros., jug along.

It's deliciously funny! And very racy too—in spots like this, The Marx Bros. get the horse laugh and you'll get hysterics when they get Harpo mounted on this noble steed in the Derby!

The scenery is de-lovely! There's also several million dollars worth of dazzling scenic effects in the big dance productions in addition to the gorgeous girls.

In scores of Georgia communities, the cotton mill is the very lifeblood of commercial activity.

When the mill is closed, business stagnates, because the mill payroll ceases to circulate through local cash registers.

A closed or crippled mill hurts not only the mill, the workers and the stockholders, but merchants, professional men, and even manufacturers many miles away.

FORGET YOU NEVER

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE: Edna Carver, pretty young Baltimore matron and lives with her mother, Mrs. Carver, who boards with them, calls Edna old-fashioned because she is so careful about the boys she goes with. Dee, secretary to Charles Larimore, is engaged to Brad Dunning, young insurance agent. David Nolan, last of an old aristocratic family, invited Edna and Dee to a dance in celebration of the return after three years in South America of Neil Dune, and asks Brad to bring an extra girl. Dee persuades Edna to go. There is admiration in David's eyes when he meets Edna. He presents Thelma King, then Neil. Edna knows at once Neil is the man she has always been waiting to meet. He says his father was captain of a freighter and except for one year at a summer camp when David saved him from drowning he spent his vacations with his father visiting many parts of the world. After graduating as an engineer he has indulged his wanderlust. Thelma is jealous as David dances often with Edna. Dee dances mostly with Larimore. Thelma's twin sister, Joanna, who is in New York, is in love with Neil. He takes Edna home to meet his mother, but says "Good night, Edna, I wish I had never met you." The next day he sends Edna a letter saying that would be the last time he would see her. At Edna's door Neil says, "I'd never met you, but I'd like to know you in the same category of other girls I've kissed. I'm just a little bit out." NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

breath. "You may as well tell me. I've heard everything else." "I'm not going to tell you to go because I think you are going to need your friends more now than ever before, Dee. It's your life and I'm not the one to tell you what to do with it, or what man..." "The only man I'll ever love just left, hating me," she said quietly. "All that is good in me loves Brad, Edna. The bad part, the weak part, is going to take what Charles offers." "Is he going to marry you?" "I don't know. But I'm sure he will." "But suppose he doesn't," Edna said gently. "I never thought of that. Oh, but he will! But if he doesn't, I'll have lost everything, won't I? I'm so mixed up. Tell me you don't hate me and that you'll stand by me. Before there was always Brad but—no more. I know what I'm doing but I—I can't help it." "Sometimes we can't help being the way we are," Edna said. "You can't help loving Neil, she thought. You can't help preferring him to David in spite of everything. ... Come back, Neil, I'll give you my heart if only to break when you go away. These three months I want, I'll make them last a lifetime. ... To Dee she said, "You'd better get some sleep. It's very late." "Tell your mother in the morning. I can't. Ask her not to talk about it before me." She looked up. "What will happen to Brad, Edna? When something that has filled your life has been taken away..." Edna turned away. "I don't know, but nothing good, I'm afraid. He said he was going to put something else on a pedestal to worship—money." Walking home in the early winter twilight, Edna thought of the two nights that had passed since the night Dee broke her engagement to Brad. When Edna had told her mother the following morning, Mrs. Carver looked shocked, then troubled. "She'll regret it all her life," she said. "Poor Brad. Poor boy." It was never mentioned in the home but it was not quite the same home it had been before. Several times a week, Dee phoned that she was dining out and Edna knew that she avoided her. Charles Larimore had never come to the Carver's stucco bungalow. Brad came to dinner when Dee was not there and his unhappiness depressed Edna and her mother for days afterward. Her own life, Edna thought, had taken a sharp turn. She had not heard from Neil. At night she thought, "This is another day when I haven't seen him or heard from him. But wanting to see him doesn't lessen as the days go on. It gets worse. And every day brings him closer to the time when he'll go away for another three years." She remembered every moment with him and everything he had said since the night she walked to him across the soft dew rug in David's house and knew, knew at once with a faith that could never be shaken, that it would never be David or any one else, but Neil, always. She thought of David, whom she had seen frequently during the past two weeks. They had lunched together, she had dined at his house, and one night he had met her mother. Mrs. Carver had liked him. "He's a fine young man, Edna," and Edna wanted to say, "But you haven't met Neil, mother. Don't hope for anything between David and me." Walking up the path to the house, she hoped that David would not call her tonight, that he would never call her again. You could not say to a man who was falling in love with you, "I'd like you for a friend because you're thoughtful and nice to be with but I'll never love you. And nothing you will ever say to me will ever mean as much as the few compliments Neil paid me. And if I knew you all my life, that won't mean as much to me as the few moments I've had with Neil." ... That night, with the snow falling softly about them, and a gesture so tender that it had started her tears when he had said, touching her hair, "I like to hear you say my name." In the hall she took off her coat and hat. She was wearing the dark red jersey dress again. From the living room Brad asked, "Edna?" "Yes." She went in and smiled at him. How haggard and thin he looked! "Your mother will be charging me board soon," he said. "It—it gets kind of lonesome eating alone." "We're glad to have you." She laughed a little. "You carve a chicken beautifully and do all sorts of odd jobs around the house that mother and I can't do." "How is Dee?" Then he said, "Don't tell me. I know. I've seen her. I waited outside her office a couple of times and saw her come out with Larimore. She's all right. Sitting on top of the world, riding around in his big car, going to the best places." Edna thought, "There is something about a man's being hurt that makes you feel worse than if it were a woman. They don't give in to their feelings and weep. They think they have to be braver than women, and not cry. It makes your heart ache." "I'm sorry, Brad." "Don't be. I've learned my lesson." He looked at her helplessly. "But I can't work. That was a joke, my saying I was going out to make money. I can't work." He shrugged. "Let's skip it. I don't want to bother you with it." Mrs. Carver, a white apron over her neat black frock, her gray hair softly waved, came in. "Dinner isn't quite ready and I've a letter for you to read, Edna." She smiled. "We're going to have another boarder. Kay's daughter, Vicky." She looked at Brad. "Kay is my cousin, any lives in Washington. Her husband died five years ago and she's had a struggle raising the child." From her pocket she took the letter and gave it to Edna. Kay had written, "I have been offered what seems to be a good job in New York but it means, of course, that I'll be gone all day and I hate the thought of leaving Vicky alone in a strange city. Besides, it would be less expensive to board her until I know just how this job is going to work out. I'd like for her to start in at business school as she is anxious to work. I hope, later, to be able to make up to her for the education she's missed. About Vicky, my best. She's a darling person, if I do say so myself. I'll send her when I'm permanently settled and have made some friends. Until that time I shall never be able to thank you enough if you will do this for me. My love to Edna." There was a postscript. "Vicky was 16 last week and she grows to look more like Edna every day except that her hair is dark like mine. She likes to be told that because the family has always thought Edna so beautiful." Mrs. Carver said cheerfully, "Of course I'll take the child! Always room in my house for one more. I'll write Kay tonight and tell her to send Vicky over." Continued Tomorrow. THE NOISY CICADAS.

Of all noisy insects the cicada (pronounced "see-kah-da") seems to have first place as the greatest noise-maker. This strange product of Nature also has the name of "17-year locust," but it is not really a locust, and some kinds of cicadas do not live 17 years.

Another kind of cicada has the special name of 17-year locust. The young, or "nymphs," dig into the ground and stay there for 17 years. Think of spending that much time under the soil!

While under the ground, the nymphs cut through the soil-looking for food. From time to time, they fasten their mouths to the roots of trees, and drain off the juices. In this way they attack the roots of fruit trees, as well as those of the forest.

Three or more times during the 17 years, these cicadas shed their skins, gaining in size after each molt. After their long, dark period under the soil, they burrow their way to the surface, then enjoy a short time of freedom in the open air. Their outer covering splits apart, and they crawl out, their shells now being fitted with wings. For three or four weeks, they can enjoy the sunshine of the upper world.

The 17-year cicadas have the longest average lifetime in the insect world. There are other kinds of cicadas as well. One kind stays under the ground 13 years instead of 17, and has the special name of "13-year locust."

Crackers Stage Another Spectacular Rally To Beat Pebs, 9-6

ABOARD U. S. S. DICKERSON WITH TECH NAVY, July 5.—It is a distinct pleasure to feel that one's appearance is all that might be asked.

It was just the other day, a few hours after the arrival in Kingston, that your correspondent was walking down King street in search of the local newspaper. There is no good reason for it, but when in a new town your correspondent always calls around at the newspaper shop. There is a homely smell about the newsprint and the ink and there is a sort of satisfaction in it.

The British flag was flying from the postoffice and your correspondent halted in the shade to give his feet time to rest a bit. They were barking from the heat and the days of standing around on a steel destroyer's deck.

There were two ladies talking near the doorway, both English ladies.

"Pardon me," said your correspondent, bowing slightly, "would you direct me to the office of your newspaper, The Gleaner?"

One of the ladies turned and began directing the way. Midway of her directions she looked your reporter over and halted.

"Charles," she said, addressing a Jamaican who sat at the wheel of an Austin touring car, "drive this gentleman to the office of The Gleaner."

Not only did your correspondent manage to enter the door of an Austin touring car but he managed it with some dignity. Charles drove us over very handsomely indeed, going on the left side of the street, which is the English custom.

All the way over, your reporter was busy trying to figure out what had given the lady enough confidence to risk her Austin to an American in port for a couple of days. He came at last to the conclusion it was the Irish linen suit he was wearing. The lady must have been named O'Brien and knew, instinctively, the suit was Irish linen.

EDWARD AND WALLY.

A part of the afternoon was devoted to looking about here and there. While purchasing some stamps, the young lady selling them commented on the fact they were the coronation stamps. And so they were. And very pretty, too.

All of which set your correspondent to looking about for some touch of Edward and Wallis Warfield, now the Duchess of Windsor, in this English possession.

One of the British news weeklies, on sale at one of the stands, had just arrived. It showed a photograph of the new Duchess of Windsor and beneath it are the lines: "Her third marriage makes her bride No. 1."

It was, however, in a department store there was discovered the most forlorn relic of the late English king. There was, on a shelf along with some English marmalades and jams, a can of British chocolates. And on the can was a picture of King Edward. The can was a little shopworn. Your correspondent picked it up and looked at it rather solemnly. It was one of the many things sent out to the possessions for sale during the coronation which Edward ran out on for love of the lady known as Wally. The solemn look must have impressed the young lady.

"I am afraid, sir," she said, "they may be a bit stale."

"Like Edward and Wally?"

"Oh, sir, indeed, sir," she said, and giggled a bit as she put away the candy. Later I was sorry I had not bought it. Miss Virginia likes to play with empty tins, especially when there are a few buttons in the tins to make them rattle.

BANANAS AND THE SOCIAL SCALE.

In our own country there are a number of foods which are tabbed as plebeian type and which lack the social standing of other foods.

Cabbage, for instance, is an excellent food, rich in vitamins and iron and minerals and goodness knows what else. And it has a natural sort of affinity for corned beef. Yet the cabbage is frowned upon as a food and so for that matter, is corned beef. The lowly navy bean has sunk so low that even the navy does not use it any more. We have baked beans for lunch on the destroyers each Saturday. It is a sort of ritual. But nevertheless the navy bean is not a tony food. This correspondent has a very great liking for corned beef and cabbage and soup made from the navy bean is thought to be the nectar which the gods ate on Mount Olympus. I mean, of course, the real bean soup and not the imitations which they seek to dress up.

Nevertheless, there was something of a shock today in reading one of the letters to the editor of The Gleaner, Kingston's valuable newspaper.

His subject was the banana. Now, there is another food which this reporter likes. The destroyer does not leave any port without bananas for McGill. It is a fruit which many of better known citizens enjoy. Mr. Hughes Spalding, for instance, is a banana addict. And there are others.

The gentleman, however, in his letter to The Gleaner, was deploring the fact that people in Jamaica did not eat enough bananas. He deplored the fact at length and wound up by saying:

"We find the old prejudice against the using of bananas because originally in this country they were used for feeding pigs and anyone seen eating bananas was counted as being lower in the social scale. 'This,' he wound up, 'is ridiculous.'"

Well, I should say it is. And to discover there is a country where the banana ranks low in the social scale, along with cabbage in the United States, is very shocking. I hope the letter to The Gleaner has some influence and the Jamaicans at least admit the banana to some one of the social strata.

Your reporter is going right up on deck and have the siren sounded for the gentleman who wrote the letter.

SOUTHERN LOOP DIRECTORS DENY MARTIN TO QUIT

Nashville Banner Reports Dan Hill To Succeed as League Head.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 6.—(AP) Directors of the Southern Association of Baseball Clubs strolled out of a secret meeting here today with friendly nods for newspapermen, but no comment on a published report Judge John D. Martin would retire from the presidency next fall.

Judge Martin announced to the assembled press representatives that the meeting was for the purpose of discussing arrangements for the annual Dixie series between representatives of the Southern and Texas leagues, and concluded:

"That covers the action of the meeting."

Later, Judge Martin declined to comment on a story by Freddie Russell in the Nashville Banner, saying Dan Hill, now president of the Piedmont league, would be chosen assistant president today with the view of succeeding to the presidency in the fall.

"NO ACTION TAKEN."

"No action was taken other than that announced immediately after the meeting," Judge Martin said. Directors, referring all inquiries to Judge Martin, declined to discuss the meeting other than to agree that no other action was taken.

Hill was in Memphis, for the purpose, he said, of talking with Earl Mann, Atlanta director, on matters respecting the National Association of Professional Baseball.

Asked if he had been picked as Judge Martin's ultimate successor, Hill countered:

"Has Martin resigned?" Later, he said, "I have not been approached."

Persistent questioning also brought from him:

"NOT SEEKING JOB."

"I don't want him or anyone else to think I am seeking his job. I have plenty of trouble of my own in the Piedmont league, and am needed back there now."

"How is Judge Martin? I want to see him before I leave. We have transacted many matters of importance together in recent years, but so far as nominating me to succeed him—that's new to me."

Martin announced he would meet with President Alvin Gardner, of the Texas league, within a few weeks to make arrangements for the Dixie Series.

The directors voted to pay players for not more than four days from the time the Southern association ends until the Dixie Series begins.

The league's attendance, Martin said, has held up "remarkably well," with the total only slightly below the 1936 mark at the date.

'That Third Victory Was the Hardest, Dan'

Dan Kirkland (right), Columbus High athlete, congratulates Bob Cheatham (left), Griffin, on winning Griffin's fourth annual invitation tournament on the 20th green. "It was a great match and you deserved the victory," said Kirkland. "It was my hardest victory in three years, a lucky win over a great competitor," said Cheatham as they left the green. Cheatham has won the last three tournaments. Below is the complete story of the finals. This invitation meet drew more than 160 Georgia golfers.

CHEATHAM AGAIN WINS AT GRIFFIN

Home Town Boy Beats Kirkland on 20th Green for 3d Straight Title.

By ROY WHITE.

GRIFFIN, Ga., July 6.—Griffin's greatest day of golf was climaxed here this afternoon on the 20th green of the Municipal course as Bob Cheatham, Griffin's own, beat Dan Kirkland, of Columbus, Ga., in the finals of the fourth annual Griffin Invitation tournament.

Cheatham, trailing through 11 holes, rallied on the back nine and won out with a sensational eight-foot putt on the second extra hole. It was Cheatham's third successive Griffin Invitation championship.

Two semi-final matches which ended on the 19th green, with both winners staging great rallies, set off the fireworks for the most sensational golf ever seen on a Griffin course.

And it was Kirkland, Columbus High's All-G. I. A. basketball center for two years, the leading hitter in the Big Eight baseball league and Columbus' city champion, who was the center of attraction throughout the day.

Kirkland was four down and two to go when he started the comeback trail which eliminated Guy Haistens, the medalist and favorite, on the 19th green. Cheatham, trailing through most of his match with Grantland Barnes, another Griffin youth, was forced to stage a great rally to win out on the 19th green.

Those three matches were well worth the while on any course and were followed by some 300 spectators, despite a blistering sun.

The Kirkland-Cheatham match was a grand climax to four days of the greatest golf ever seen in Griffin and a tournament which set a new record for entries with 166 participating. A tribute to the untiring efforts of Carey Rich, the Griffin professional, and his club of 125 members.

In the championship battle, Kirkland, conceding only the slightest chance to win even three matches, went into the lead at No. 2. He went two up with a birdie at four. Cheatham fired a par at Kirkland to win the fifth and squared the match with a long putt at the 19th green.

Hooks Hits Triple In Ninth With 3 On

Alex Scores Winning Run on Rose's Squeeze; Beckman Wins 6th Straight in Relief Role.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 6.—The Crackers drove into the burning coals tonight to pull another game out of the fire with a spectacular ninth-inning rally of six runs to overcome the Travelers' 6-3 advantage and win the series opener, 9-6.

It was the same dogged courage and punch that the day before had brought the Southern league champions a late victory over Memphis, when they scored five in the ninth to tie and won in the tenth.

Tonight's amazing victory, achieved with two out in the ninth, sent the battling men of Eddie Moore nearer the Chicks and Travelers, who are now deadlocked for first place, just six games ahead of Atlanta.

Alex Hooks' rousing triple scored three men in the ninth to tie the score and Rose squeezed Hooks home with the winning run. Two more came home on Hill's triple.

Leo Moon started for Atlanta, but was replaced by Beckman when the Prothrobs scored three in the eighth to apparently clinch the game. Beckman thus received credit for his sixth consecutive victory though he hurled less than an inning. Larry Miller pitched the ninth when Beckman was removed for a pinch hitter in the Crackers' half.

Johnny Hill, Atlanta third baseman, hit safely in his eleventh straight game, getting three safeties, one the aforementioned triple.

CRACKERS SCORE.

After Rogers retired the first five men, the Crackers scored a run in the second. Hill singled cleanly to right and scored on Chatham's triple to deep right center. Chatham's drive rolled to the signs before Nonnenkamp retrieved the ball. Richards grounded out.

Hog-tied by Moon the first two innings, the Travelers picked the veteran left-hander for three runs in the third. Griffiths singled and was forced by Rogers, who was forced by Graham. After Nonnenkamp walked, Tabor singled, scoring Graham. Then Deal doubled, scoring Nonnenkamp. Niemiec singled off Moon's glove.

This great scientific truth is bringing new heat relief from scorching summers... a wool suit is the coolest fabric you can wear.

Wool is porous, evaporates body moisture so your clothes won't "cling" to you. That's why thousands and thousands of men are swinging to Dixies.

They know these worsted suits hold their tailored smartness... cut summer cleaning and pressing bills in half. Their models have a distinctive style, variety and beauty of pattern not usually found in summer tropicals. Three price ranges of Dixie Worsteds.

Dixie Weave Suits at $23.50
Dixie Singa-pore Suits at $28.50
Dixie Silmo Suits at $33.50

Diz Dean To Start Against Gomez in All-Star Game Today

Pitching Casualties Affect Both Teams

Van Mungo Has Sore Back, Monty Stratton Out With Injured Wrist.

By ALAN GOULD.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(P)—The national capital will take a baseball holiday tomorrow, subject to possible senatorial amendments, while the major leagues put on their fifth annual all-star show for the benefit of President Roosevelt and an expected capacity crowd of nearly 32,000 fans.

Handpicked by the rival pilots, Bill Terry, of the New York Giants, and Joe McCarthy, of the New York Yankees, the opposing battle lines, drawn up definitely tonight, featured an opening pitchers' duel between the unpredictable Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, ace right-hander of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Vernon (Goofy) Gomez, of the Yankees.

SECOND FOR DIZ.

Dean, who flew in from St. Louis this evening after threatening to stage a one-man sit-down strike, drew his second straight starting assignment for the All-Star game.

Gomez, one of five members of the world champion Yankees concentrated in the Americans' lineup, will tee off in the box for the fourth time in five seasons. The lean southpaw paced his mates to three straight victories in 1933, 1934 and 1935 but didn't pitch at all last year, when the Nationals registered their first triumph.

For the first time since the inter-league "dream game" became a reality at Chicago in 1933, the S. R. O. sign will be out. Griffith stadium, including even the bleacher seats at 55 cents each, has been sold out in advance. Standing room for 1,000 fans, at $1.10 each, will be sold shortly before the signal to play ball at 1:30 p. m. (E.S.T.).

The capacity crowd will be less than half the size of the record All-Star gathering of 69,812, which saw the Americans win at Cleveland in 1935, but it will be far and away the most notable crowd in the big event's brief history.

PRESIDENT TO SEE GAME.
The President will be flanked by members of his personal and official family, besides a contingent of Eagle Scouts, here for the jamboree.

The house of representatives voted unanimously to take the day off. The senate, in the midst of debate over judicial matters, decided to resume business at 10 a. m. tomorrow, thus permitting members to put in at least a three-hour day before any decide to leave the legislative halls for the ball park.

Pitching casualties affected the plans of both league camps, causing both managers to send calls for replacements. The rival forces, picked without running the risks of any popular polls this year, are strictly "playing for keeps" and sparing no effort to muster the strongest possible lineups.

The Nationals suffered a blow when big Van Lingle Mungo, fireball right-hander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, came up with a sore back. Mungo was Terry's original choice to share the pitching job with Dean and Carl Hubbell, the Giants' screwball master, in three-inning hitches.

After failing in efforts to obtain either Paul Derringer, of the Cincinnati Reds, or Lon Warneke, of the Cardinals, as a replacement, Terry tonight decided to call on his star young right-hander, Clyde Castleman, as a replacement for Mungo, if needed.

PLENTY OF PITCHERS.
Meantime Terry indicated he would use Lee Grissom, of the Reds, as his third finger. He also has Cy Blanton, of the Pirates, and Bucky Walters, of the Phillies, on his pitching roster.

Monty Stratton, ace White Sox right-hander, was declared out of the Americans' lineup with a wrist injury. McCarthy selected one of his own men, Johnny Murphy, as a replacement.

Permission to make these last-minute shifts was granted by Baseball Commissioner Landis.

Reports that Charley Gehring was not in shape to play, due to a leg ailment, were spiced by Manager McCarthy, who named the veteran second-sacker of the Detroit Tigers to start.

With both sides presenting their strongest arrays at the outset, the betting fraternity quoted 6 to 5 and take your choice.

The Nationals relied heavily on their big batting guns, featuring three Cardinal and three Cub clouters, to find the range while Dean and Hubbell hold off the Yankee-dominated attack.

MIZE WILL PLAY.
Terry's lineup included only one all-star freshman, First Baseman Johnny Mize, of the Cardinals, while the Americans' batting order listed two newcomers, Red Rolfe, of the Yankees, at third base, and Roy (Beau) Bell, of the St. Louis Browns, in the outfield.

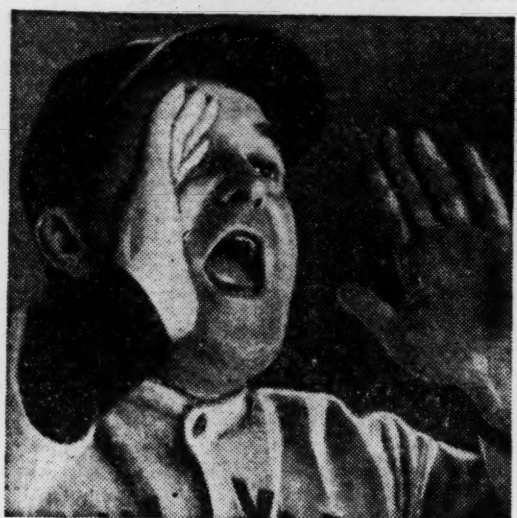

To fortify the Nationals, Terry assigned the Pirates' shortstop slugger, Arky Vaughan, to third base. The keystone combination consisted of Dick Bartell, of the Giants, and Billy Herman, of the Cubs, with Frank Demaree, of the Cubs; Paul Waner, of the Pirates, and Joe Medwick, of the league's No. 1 batsman, in the outfield.

Gabby Hartnett, of the Cubs, drew the backstopping assignment for the fifth straight time.

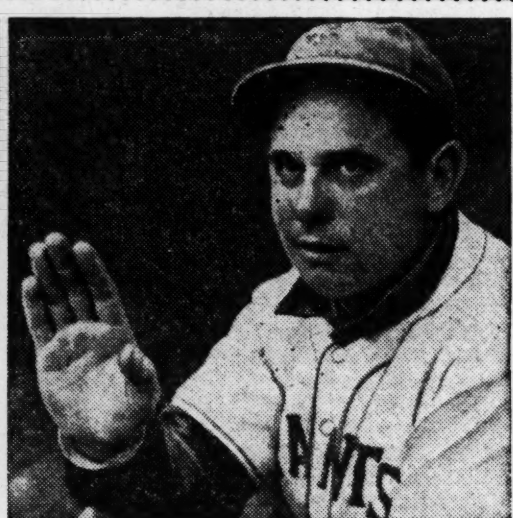

CRONIN-DIMAGGIO.
The return of Joe Cronin, Red Sox manager and shortstop, to the Americans' lineup in a park where he led a championship club in 1933 shared interest with the sophomore appearance of Joe DiMaggio in the all-star show. The young Yankee slugger, "goat" of the Americans' defeat last year in Boston, hoped to make amends with his big bat tomorrow.

The Americans had a formidable array of long-range hitters, with DiMaggio backed up by Lou Gehrig; Earl Averill, of the

HORTON SMITH LOW QUALIFIER WITH 138 TOTAL

Sarazen 2d, Hagen 3rd as Americans Shine in British Open.

By SCOTTY RESTON.

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 6. (P)—Dubbed "Happy Face" by the dour Scots since his arrival in Carnoustie, Horton Smith, the big, blond Missouri boy by way of Chicago, tonight had proved himself a serious contender for the British open golf championship.

Ramming low iron shots into the face of one of the North sea's better breezes and putting with all his old-time magic, he shot his second straight 69 today to lead 141 qualifiers by three strokes and emphasize the American monopoly that obtained throughout the 36-hole elimination.

Defying both the wind and the meandering "burns" of Carnoustie's killing test, Smith posted a total score of 138, four under par, three shots ahead of Gene Sarazen and four better than the 142 scored by Byron Nelson, Sam Snead and the inevitable Walter Hagen.

Only after these five American stalwarts had stuck their names atop the scoreboard was Britain able to place a man. Alastair McLeod, blond, 30-year-old member of a famous Glasgow golfing family, and Max Faulkner, son and assistant of a Berkshire professional, managed to sneak in at 143 before the United States, South Africa and Ireland shoved home-breds out again.

KIRKWOOD CARDS 67.
Topping the list of 144 shooters was the veteran Joe Kirkwood, the Australian-born American trick shot specialist who well-nigh insulted these proud Carnoustie folk by zooming over the adjoining Burnside links in 67, four under par and 10 under his first-round score over the championship.

CHICKS 7; LOOKOUTS 4.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 6.—The Memphis Chicks returned to a tie for first place tonight when they got away to an early lead and downed Chattanooga, 7 to 4, while Atlanta was whipping Little Rock.

Pitcher Bill Phebus, of the Lookouts, gave up eight hits in six innings before Sauerbrun went to the rescue too late. Shortstop Buster Blakey led the Chicks' attack with three for four, all singles. Chalker Triplett hit the longest drive of the game, a triple.

Law and Order Committee Formed To Keep Peace in Neighborhood

By Sally Forth.

ONE young Atlanta matron has solved the problem of how to keep peace in the backyard, a problem that is very grave when school is out and so many children gather in neighborhood yards. The matron in question, Mrs. Joel T. Daves Jr., has one of those veritable playgrounds that seems to attract crowds, equipped as it is with swings, slides, trapeze bars and what not, and the first part of vacation time there was very little quiet at 3227 West Shadowlawn avenue.

Necessity is the mother of invention, so Mrs. Daves, who as the former Mary Peeples, of Cartersville, was noted for her originality, decided to form the neighborhood children into a "committee for law and order" with prizes each week for the girl and boy whose behavior was the best.

Two of the older boys, Mrs. Daves' son, Joel III, and Bill Coart, were appointed as chairmen of the committee to preserve order.

The children, assisted by Mrs. Daves, drew up a set of rules and regulations by which they would conduct their play. Any infringement of the rules is reported by Joel and Bill and then Mrs. Daves, as judge, gives the culprit a trial and sets the punishment.

One of the fines most objected to is that of being deprived of one's turn in the swing for a certain number of times. Another that is not at all popular is losing the privilege of playing with the two puppies, Pop-Eye and Olive-Oil, among the most sought-after members of the play group. So far none of the culprits has been quite bad enough to be banished from the backyard.

Last week Arthur Saarman won a Jack Dempsey punching bag for being the best behaved boy and Joan Coart won a jumping rope as the most ladylike little girl. Bill Coart was given a bazooka for his efforts at preserving "law and order." This week Mrs. Daves is giving the prizes to the two children who try the hardest to be good.

Sally rather thinks Mrs. Daves has started something with her "committee for law and order." There will probably be many a mother who will copy her idea as the best means of curing "so much noise in the yard, I couldn't sleep a wink."

THE rumor is abroad that one of the handsomest and most attractive beaux in Atlanta has lost his heart to a charming girl, whose family reside in the east but spend their winters in Augusta. The pretty girl in question is small in stature and possesses a great deal of personal magnetism.

She visits here frequently and those who have met her like her immensely and think she is very cute and possesses an engaging manner. She is said to be wearing an exquisite diamond ring upon her engagement finger, and the comment is general that wedding bells will ring out some day.

The gentleman in question belongs to one of the first families of Atlanta and he moves in very exclusive social circles. It is quite possible that it may turn out to be just another rumor and that they are good friends only. But their names are linked together so much and so often that there may be some reason for the rumor.

WHEN the garden-minded ladies of Millen staged their flower show recently, the center of attraction, strange to relate, was not flowers. Instead of the magnificent floral display, atten-

Miss Parker and Mr. Bellinger Mary at Chapel Ceremony

Constitution Staff Photo—Hiers. MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK BELLINGER.

The marriage of Miss Marie Parker and Frederick Bellinger, of Atlanta and New Haven, Conn., was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Theological chapel of Emory University. The impressive ceremony was performed by Bishop Warren A. Candler, distinguished uncle of the groom, in the presence of relatives and friends of the popular bride and groom.

The altar of the chapel was beautified with stately palms, seven-branched candelabra held white tapers, and a white basket filled with Easter lilies adorned the center of the altar. The musical program was presented by Edward McNair, who played the piano accompanied by Mrs. O. J. Parker Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, who rendered several exquisite vocal selections.

Lohengrin's Wedding March heralded the approach of the bride, and O. J. Parker Jr., Alton H. Parker and John F. Parker, brothers of the bride, served as ushers. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was rendered for the processional by Mr. McNair.

The only bridesmaid, Miss Anne Bellinger, sister of the groom, was gowned in yellow lace fashioned over yellow taffeta. The bride featured a V neckline in front, short puffed sleeves, and her leg-horn picture hat was trimmed with a band of yellow velvet ribbon which ended in long streamers in the back. She carried a bouquet of gladioli, shading from orange to pale yellow, and tied with yellow taffeta ribbon.

The maid of honor, Miss Virginia Parker, sister of the bride, wore pastel-shaded green lace made over green taffeta. The bodice was fashioned with a V neckline in front and short puffed sleeves. Her leghorn picture hat was banded with green velvet ribbon which ended in long streamers in the back, and she carried a bouquet of gladioli, shading from orange to yellow, and tied with green taffeta ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Otho James Parker, with whom she entered the chapel. They were met at the altar by the groom and his father, Lyle F. Bellinger, who was the best man. The bride's veil was enhanced by a gown of peach-colored lace posed over peach taffeta. She wore a stylish, Cornelian-colored taffeta coat which reached to her waistline and fashioned with three-quarter sleeves.

The bride wore Cornelian accessories and satin sandals in matching shade. Her becoming hat of Cornelian-colored straw was trimmed with peach heather, and her effective costume was completed by a bouquet of Rubrum lilies, tied with Cornelian-shaded taffeta ribbon.

Mrs. O. J. Parker, mother of the bride, was gowned in navy blue Georgette crepe, worn with white accessories and a white felt hat, and white roses formed the bouquet worn on her shoulder. Mrs. Lyle F. Bellinger, mother of the groom, wore gray chiffon, flowered in pink, and a shoulder bouquet of Rubrum lilies.

Mr. and Mrs. Bellinger departed by motor after the ceremony for Wilmington, Del., where they will establish residence, and will be numbered among the attractive acquisitions to the younger married contingent of society.

Miss Sarah Hewlett And Mr. Johnson Are Complimented

Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Latta were hosts at a buffet supper last evening at their home on Peachtree Battle avenue, in compliment to Miss Sarah Hewlett and Thomas Johnson, whose marriage takes place this evening. The supper preceded the wedding rehearsal and the hosts were assisted in entertaining by Miss Virginia Knott and Mrs. R. J. Hewlett.

The lace-covered table in the dining room presented an exquisite bridal scene with its attractive decorations. In the center of the table tiny china figurines of bridal figures were arranged within a circle formed in the design of a wedding ring made of sweetheart roses, valley lilies, blue forget-me-nots and orange blossoms.

Silver candelabra holding gleaming white tapers enhanced the beauty of the table decorations. Dr. and Mrs. Latta's guests included members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests and families of the bridal couple.

Miss Rebecca Young And Mr. Frazier Will Wed Today

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lane Young entertained at a buffet supper last evening at their home in Druid Hills following the wedding rehearsal of their daughter, Miss Rebecca Young and James Frazier, whose marriage will be an important event of this evening, taking place at the First Presbyterian church.

Guests included members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests here for the wedding. The latter included Miss Lida Reed Votey, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Miss Suzanne Strasburger, of Montclair, N. J.; J. Roy Fant and Murray Fant, of Lockhart, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. John Setz and Miss Winifred Glover, of Newnan; Mrs. S. C. Williams and Miss Martha Williams, of Johnson City, Tenn.; Mrs. Bennett Moore and Miss Mary Lucy Moore, of Sparta, Ga.; Miss Mary Frances Brown, of Quitman; Mr. and Mrs. J. Gardner, of Canton; Mr. R. P. Kenyon, of Morrow, Ga.; and Miss Dolly Nicholson, of Union, S. C.

Miss Walker Feted At Social Affairs

Miss Mary Walker, whose wedding to William C. Fox will be an interesting social event of Saturday, is being honored at a series of delightful parties prior to her marriage.

Mrs. Sam T. Brannan will be hostess at a seated tea and miscellaneous shower this afternoon at her home at 1080 Oxford road, and tomorrow afternoon Miss Walker will again be honored when Mrs. Seaborn Jordan entertains at a seated tea at the Druid Hills Golf Club.

Dr. and Mrs. Lester Rumble will be hosts at a buffet supper at their home on Orme circle honoring Miss Walker and Mr. Fox, this affair to follow the wedding rehearsal on Friday evening.

An interesting event of Monday evening was the party at which Misses Ruby and Ruth Cowan entertained at their home on Third street in Decatur, as a compliment to Miss Walker. The occasion marked the birthday anniversaries of the two hostesses and the honor guest.

Among others who have honored Miss Walker have been Mrs. J. D. Manget Jr., who gave a luncheon and handkerchief shower; Miss Thelma Firestone, who was hostess at a kitchen shower and luncheon, and Mrs. A. C. Stubblebine, who entertained at a bridge luncheon.

Alpha Delta Theta Meets This Week

Alpha Delta Theta, national woman's fraternity, will hold its ninth annual convention at Blowing Rock, N. C., on July 7-11. Officers are: Grand president, Mrs. Carl Jennings, of San Mateo, Cal.; grand vice president, Mrs. John Ormand, Monroe, N. C.; secretary, Mrs. Frank Gentry, Long Island, N. Y.; and treasurer, Mrs. A. J. Wildman, Hamilton, Ohio.

Alpha Delta Theta was founded at Transylvania College, in Lexington, Ky., in 1919. It became a full member of national Panhellenic in record time, and in a few years had taken its place among the groups which had been established for much longer time. Southern chapters are located at Brenau College, Gainesville, Ga.; Queens College, Charlotte, N. C.; Charleston College, Charleston, S. C.; and Howard College, Birmingham, Ala.

Miss Ruth Chindblom, of Chicago, Ill., is general chairman for the convention, and girls from Brenau will entertain with a program of drama and music on Wednesday evening. Howard College delegates and the Birmingham alumnae will be in charge of the luncheon on Friday. Charleston delegates will preside at breakfast on Thursday, and Charlotte girls will assist with the costume ball on Thursday.

Miss Margaret Cobb Sails From Japan.

Miss Margaret Mallory Cobb, 16-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Cobb, of Japan, sailed from that country on the S. S. Europa on June 23 for the United States. With a party of friends she is traveling across Siberia and will visit Germany, France and England before landing in New York about August 10.

Miss Cobb is returning to America to enter Wesleyan College, Macon, at its opening session in September. She will receive her college education at this time-honored institution, where her mother, grandmother and several aunts were students.

She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Atkinson, of Newnan, and great-niece of the late Governor W. Y. Atkinson. Her mother was Miss Theodora Atkinson, of Newnan, and her father is a scion of the Cobb family of Macon.

Ida Jean Kain Says "Streamlining Is the Order of the Day"

Your Figure, Madam
By IDA JEAN KAIN.

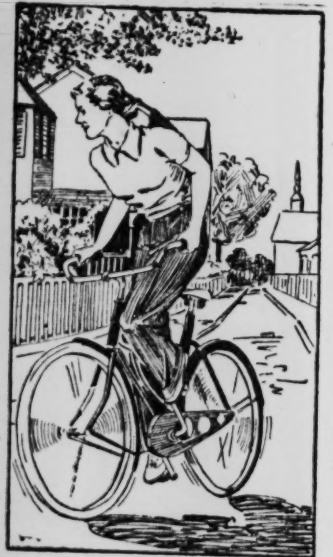

ANNA STEN GOES STREAMLINED.

In London, it's "slimming," and in Hollywood, it's "reducing" . . . but in both film capitals, it amounts to streamlining.

In the movies, at home or abroad, screen stars must be svelte. Anna Sten, the voluptuous continental beauty, has just returned from London 20 pounds lighter and lovelier. She slimmed down without loss of vitality. As a matter of fact, this glamorous star is healthier, and her beauty has a new sparkle, as the result of her weight loss.

This is what slimming does for you when you follow the laws of health. Miss Sten is married to Dr. Eugene Renke, so that she did not make the mistake of trying some weight-reducing fad which might have injured her health. Hers is the health and beauty program a doctor outlines for a screen star.

Without adopting a rigorous diet, Miss Sten cut down the fattening qualities of her menu by deleting practically all fats. She learned to like lean meats—broiled lamb chops with the fat trimmed off, beef and fish. On the other hand, she ate more fresh vegetables, particularly those of the watery variety, such as turnips, cabbage, sauerkraut, tomatoes and carrots. Never did she allow herself to eat between meals or before going to bed, with the exception of a cup of tea in the afternoon and fresh fruit juice in the evening.

This work makes for leg-shapeliness.

And . . . she exercised! To slim the hips down from 37 inches to 35 inches took daily exercise. Believing in swimming as the beauty aid, she swam her daily dozen as often as possible. "Don't swim in a shaded pool," Miss Sten says. "Get out in the sunshine. The more exposed the chest and back are to the sun's rays, the better."

Many of the English film actresses, says Miss Sten, ride bicycles to and from the studios for exercise. Balancing a bike gives you curve control . . . No wonder the movie queens keep in perfect shape!

Miss Sten's advice to girls who would slim down easily and healthily is divided into Do's and Don'ts . . .

Do get plenty of sunshine. Exercise regularly, every day. Sleep at least eight or nine hours a night. Rise early. Eat sensibly and leisurely.

Don't eat fats or excess starches. Don't eat sweets. Don't drink alcoholic beverages. Avoid eating between meals and before retiring. Don't "diet" . . . eat intelligently. Follow your doctor's advice.

In the last 16 months Miss Sten lost the 20 pounds and now weighs 118 pounds—perfect for her height of five feet, five and one-half inches. Her new measurements are: Bust 32 inches; waist, 24 inches; hips 35 inches. And so a new Anna Sten has returned to Hollywood.

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK CITY, Monday.—Friday afternoon late, John, Anna and I drove to the Newark airport through the holiday traffic which was making its way toward New Jersey. We had hardly set foot inside the office door when the photographers came up to greet us. "Was I leaving, too?" "Had I heard from Franklin and Ethel?" "Would you please all step out and be photographed saying goodbye at the plane?"

To their questions I could answer truthfully that I was not leaving, as witness of my truthfulness my car was parked outside waiting for me; we had heard nothing from Franklin and Ethel, and very reluctantly just before the plane was ready to be boarded we stepped out to be photographed. How I hate to say goodbye, especially when someone else is going to do the flying! To have a large audience of interested spectators in addition makes it even more difficult.

Everyone was on board and I stepped back of the fence and was immediately greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Johnson from Albany, whom I had not seen in a long while. They were seeing a friend off and I was glad to see them again.

I stood watching the last-minute preparations, when a little young couple beside me, bursting with excitement, asked me if Franklin and Ethel had sailed on one of the recent ships. The man said he had been down by the planes and they were expecting them.

I asked if they were seeing someone off. He said, "No." His wife had never seen a plane close by and, since they were passing, they just stopped to see the plane go out. A little breathlessly she said, "It is quite a thrill to find myself talking to you."

The plane started, we waved our last goodbye, I waited until I saw it actually in the air, then I climbed into my car and started to drive back to New York alone. The traffic back was very light and I left the car at the garage and was in my apartment at 7:40.

At 8 o'clock two friends went to dine with me at the Hotel Lafayette. I have an affection for this place as I used to go there when I was a young girl with an old and dear friend, Bob Ferguson. I think places which you have enjoyed always retain a certain sentimental value for you.

Then I went back to my own sitting room and to work.

The sailing of the Conte Di Savoia on Saturday morning meant getting into a stream of cars, but some kind policeman caught sight of my mother-in-law and, before I knew it, room had been made and we were going in through a special entrance. Two photographers waited at the gangplank, but she firmly said, "No photographs." Even afterwards, in her stateroom, she was adamant. Finally, my Johnny and Johnny Drayton went with me to the end of the corridor and let them have photographs of us.

The goodbyes are all said, and I am glad that this business of goodbyes is over for a little while, for I don't like them at all.

Hollywood Today

By HAROLD HEFFERMAN

RAMON NOVARRO GETS CHANCE AT COMEBACK

HOLLYWOOD, July 6.—The man who sang the first important song hit of the talking picture era, a song whose dreamy, haunting melody swept the nation and foretold the power of this new medium for blending romance and music, is back in Hollywood today hitting the comeback trail.

"Come with me where moonbeams light Tahitian skies, And the starlit waters, Linger in your eyes."

You remember it? Of course you must. It is "The Pagan Love Song" from that memorable South Seas movie, "The Pagan." The singing star was Ramon Novarro, in the role of a gallant, love-tortured native boy.

Released in May, 1929, when theaters were cluttered with those strange celluloid hybrids known as "part-talkies," this film signalled a new achievement in sound recording and verified for the fans a rumor that Novarro was actually an actor possessing an excellent singing voice.

Novarro's popularity reached its apex with that song and that film. Nothing he had ever done in his 12 years as a star—not even the title role in the costly "Ben Hur"—could transcend his pagan performance.

When fans today think of Novarro, and many of them still do, judging by his mail, they conjure a mental picture of a sad-eyed native in loincloth, wandering along a sandy beach, his head raised in song. That image dwarfs the thunderous spectacle of Novarro's chariot clattering over the cobblestones of ancient Rome.

Novarro never made another important movie after "The Pagan." The cards were stacked against him. It is the story of a poor star, hurriedly devised to capitalize on a name his sponsors knew would carry the load. Finally, in 1934, Novarro rebelled, walked off the M-G-M lot declaring he was through with pictures for good. He went to Europe, where he directed one film, acted in another.

Last fall he turned up in Hollywood again. An idealist, a dreamer and a confirmed fatalist, Novarro secretly yearned for a return to his old glory. But there were no major studios to bid for his services. At 33, and off the screen nearly three years, there seemed no place for him.

Novarro refused to beg. He hired no agent to plead his case. He merely waited, constantly repeating to a few Hollywood intimates his fatalistic creed: "What is to be, is to be."

His break did come—but from one of the smallest studios in town, a lot which the big fellows slurringly refer to as "a quickie joint." But he liked the scenario sent over for him to read and last week completed the final scene in the film, "The Sheik Steps Out."

In this he plays another Arabian character, not unlike many of his past roles and he gets a chance to sing a couple of songs, written especially for him by Elsie Janis, who, through all the years, has remained his one loyal friend and confidant in Hollywood.

Beauty, According To You

Lavender, Perennial Favorite of All Ages— Now Packaged With An Atomizer

By LILLIAN MAE.

I've heard a few women and men in my lifetime say they do not like perfume, but even those who ordinarily don't care for other odors succumbed to the dignified, satisfying scent of lavender.

For some reason, this fragrance is often associated with people of the older generation, but I find that it is the one perfume universally liked by all ages, and both sexes. So much so that toilet kits for men are being put up in lavender.

Particularly is this stand-by, with its air of olden charm, appropriate to this season with its return to lace and the new passion for natural grace. The smart woman realizes also the importance of lavender for informal occasions and outdoor sports. A reliable manufacturer, whose name is practically synonymous with lavender, has now packaged the lovely extract, one of the oldest and most popular of the world over, in a medium and a large size to include a lovely atomizer which screws onto the top of the bottle. The package is not otherwise changed, carrying the just-right air which for more years than I can recall has charmed all ages. The price, also, is reasonable.

If you wish to know the name of this product and the stores at which it may be purchased, call me at my office in The Constitution building. If you do not live in Atlanta, write, inclosing a stamped, addressed envelope.

BY FIGHT BOARD

Schmeling Is Notified His

Proposed Bout Will Not

Be Recognized.

NEW YORK, July 6. (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission today formally approved a heavyweight title match between Joe Louis and Tommy Farr, British empire titleholder, in a sudden move that apparently left Max Schmeling once more on the outside looking in.

The fight, at 15 rounds, will be held in the Yankee stadium, promoter Mike Jacobs said, but the date is uncertain. After giving the commission's consent to holding the match the week of September 13, Mike indicated he may try to switch it to an August date.

Louis, who won the title by knocking out Jimmy Braddock at Chicago last month, will defer his proposed trip to England until after the match with Farr, Jacobs said.

27 ARE ELIMINATED FROM STATE PATROL BY PHYSICAL TESTS

Mental Examinations Also Given Group of 100 Applicants Here.

Deficiency in height and weight eliminated 27 of the approximately 100 applicants who took physical and mental tests for places on Georgia's newly created highway patrol at Georgia Tech yesterday. Results of the mental examinations will not be announced for several days, Major John C. Carter, acting director of the patrol, said.

"Most of these disqualifications could have been prevented if applicants had read their application blanks," Major Carter said, pointing out that the majority of those eliminated lacked either weight or height.

Height Requirements. Major Carter cited numerous instances in which applicants had met the requirements demanded by the patrol in their application blanks, but when they came up for examination they were either underweight or not tall enough. The application blank specifically states that a man must be five feet nine inches tall and weigh 155 pounds in order to qualify for the patrol. No applicants are accepted below the age of 25 or above 45.

"We will have to call for some more applicants," Major Carter said following the physical examinations. "We will have to keep on calling for them until we get the number we want; otherwise the whole thing would be a failure," he added.

Class "Disappointing." The acting director said he was "slightly disappointed" over the first class of applicants although several were graded as "excellent." Two other classes of approximately 100 each have already been scheduled.

Physical examinations were held in the naval building at Georgia Tech and mental tests followed in the chapel. Major Carter said he

Discount Offered To Spur Tax Flow

One per cent discount from the total tax bill will be allowed by the city if taxes are paid in full before July 15. Senior Tax Assessor Joe Little said yesterday.

The second installment of city taxes became due July 1. Little pointed out the city charges 7 per cent interest on overdue tax bills. "It is a bargain for taxpayers to make full payments now," he said. Collectors have been excellent this year, Tax Collector R. A. McMurtry said.

expected a further "weeding out" of applicants when the test papers are corrected.

Those who successfully pass the physical and mental tests will enter a training school to be held on the Georgia Tech campus. The school will probably begin either Monday or Tuesday of next week, Major Carter said. Arrangements have already been made for the use of a dormitory to house the men in training. Approximately 120 men will be selected.

HOLIDAY FATALITIES HIGHEST IN HISTORY

563 Persons Meet Violent Death in 2 Days—310 Killed by Autos.

By the Associated Press.

A total of 563 men, women and children met violent death in the two-day celebration of the nation's 161st birthday.

The toll was believed the highest in the history of America's observance of Independence Day. Only four deaths were attributed directly to fireworks. Traffic accidents constituted the biggest single cause. A total of 310 persons were fatally injured on streets and highways.

There were 142 drownings Sunday and Monday. During the same period 107 persons died violently in other ways.

The four fireworks deaths compared with 11 last year. Among the states, New York had the largest number of fatalities from all causes—39. Michigan was second with 36 and California third with 34. Vermont was low with only one death from violence.

The toll of 310 traffic deaths was the largest in more than a decade, comparing with 228 during the celebration a year ago.

RICH SPORTSMAN GETS 5-DAY TERM

Stepfather of John Jacob Astor III Sentenced.

NEW YORK, July 6.—(UP)—Enzo Fiermonte, former pugilist and stepfather of John Jacob Astor III through his marriage to Mrs. Madeline Fiermonte Astor Dick, was sentenced to five days in the workhouse on Welfare Island today for a traffic offense of three years ago.

Fiermonte, who dropped his ring career in favor of auto racing after his marriage to Mrs. Dick, was told by Magistrate Gustav Wiedboldt, of Jamaica traffic court, that he could not avoid serving the sentence by paying a fine.

ONE KILLED, ONE HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

WILMINGTON, N. C., July 6.—(AP)—John Lynch, of Goldsboro, was killed, and William F. Martin, of Richmond, Va., and Edward Henry, of Wilmington, were injured last night in an automobile accident two and a half miles south of Wallace, near here. Their car turned over after failing to make a curve.

Cavadoza Takes Second Commoner Wife

The Count of Cavadoza, eldest son of former King Alfonso of Spain, and his bride, the former Senorita Maria Rocafort y Altuzarra Vedado (left), are pictured at the reception following their wedding in the home of Don Manuel Zamora, Spanish millionaire and friend of the Count. President Federico Laredo Bru, who attended the ceremony in Havana the night of July 3, is at the extreme right. The Count's first marriage to Edelmira Sampedro, for whose love he renounced his rights to the now abdicated Spanish throne, ended in divorce three months ago.

Councilmen Allocate $5,700 Fund By Transfer From Other Accounts

Proposal To Elevate Detective Lieutenant J. A. McKibben, Head of Bureau, to Acting Captaincy Is Side-tracked to Finance Committee.

Appropriations totaling approximately $5,700 were voted yesterday by city council during a session devoted largely to routine affairs.

Councilmen refused to create the post of acting captain in the police detective department, although Mayor Hartsfield made a plea for the new position. The paper was referred to the finance committee for later consideration.

The mayor strongly advocated elevating Lieutenant J. A. McKibben, praising his efficient work, but Alderman Ed Gilliam and others opposed creation of the acting captaincy.

License Fees Set. A $1,000 business license was imposed on the Atlanta Gas Light Company upon recommendation of the tax committee. Council also adopted a scale of business license fees ranging from $40 to $300 per year for filling stations, and voted a business license tax of $300 a year for broadcasting stations. Alderman Robert Carpenter, who presided at the meeting, introduced an ordinance to tax money lenders $1,000 per year and it was referred to the tax committee for consideration.

Finance papers included an appropriation of $1,500 for widening Twelfth street between Juniper and Peachtree streets; $500 for vacations to public works employees; $900 to pay a coal inspector; $500 for repairs to the Atlanta Social Disease hospital; $500 for entertainment of the Georgia Municipal Association convention which is to be held here July 22 and 23; $450 for employment of another ambulance driver at Grady hospital; $600 to provide vacations for Grady employees; and $280 for vacations to workers at Battle Hill sanitarium. Most of the money was transferred from other funds already available.

Patient Littered. Proposal by Councilman Frank Beck to limit the time patients could be treated at Battle Hill to a minimum of one year was killed by tabling. Beck's ordinance would have allowed only indigent persons who were curable to be admitted to the tuberculosis hospital. Alderman Roy Callaway and Councilmen J. Allen Couch and Howard Haire led the fight against the paper.

Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, was re-elected unanimously for a four-year term. Dr. Kennedy has held the post for 36 years.

Possibility of another "sit-down" strike by members of the Atlanta bond commission was averted when council appropriated $450 to finance an audit of bond fund expenditures. Joseph H. Ewing, chairman of the commission, wrote council of a resolution of the commission adopted yesterday stating they would adjourn and stay adjourned if the appropriation were not made. The bond commission is to take a tour of inspection of all bond projects at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, members announced.

Recommendation of the finance committee that all bond money paid city workers in addition to regular salaries be discontinued as of July 1 was adopted. Several city workers have received additional pay from bond funds for extra work on bond projects. Committee members pointed out the new stipulation does not affect workers paid solely with bond money.

Health Measure Choked. Alderman Callaway's proposed ordinance to require physical examinations for all domestic servants was virtually killed. Though motions to table the paper lost, 6 to 5, councilmen voted not to place it on second reading, necessary for passage. The ordinance offered free examinations for social diseases.

Ban on sale or discharge of fire-works anywhere in the city was contained in a proposed ordinance introduced by Callaway and Councilman Frank Wilson. It was referred to the ordinance committee for a public hearing. Such an ordinance passed council recently but was vetoed and later adopted.

FRANCE THREATENS TO ABANDON PATROL

Will Permit Arms To Flow To Loyalists If Reich, Italy Are Adamant.

PARIS, July 6.—(AP)—France tonight demanded re-establishment of the nonintervention patrol around war-torn Spain on the threat of ceasing to guard her own southern frontier and thus allow arms and men to reach the Spanish government.

French officials declared both the naval patrol, disrupted when Italy and Germany withdrew in anger over alleged Spanish attacks on their patrol vessels, and neutral guard of the Portuguese border must be renewed.

PATROL COMPROMISE SOUGHT BY BRITAIN

LONDON, July 6.—(AP)—The British government moved toward a compromise tonight to break the deadlock over nonintervention in Spain.

With a session of the full, 27-nation nonintervention committee called for Friday, Foreign Secretary Eden told the house of commons.

"We've not only made our own proposals; we've declared our readiness to consider any other proposals that are just and fair."

In the nonintervention impasse, Great Britain and France are ranged against Germany and Italy, which withdrew their warships from the naval patrol supervising the international ban on the flow of foreign volunteers and munitions to Spain.

British statesmen still were adamant in refusing to continue the nonintervention scheme without naval control but informed sources said Lord Plymouth, chairman of the nonintervention committee, might not object to regarding observers without warships as constituting full-fledged control.

Under this plan, neutral observers in Spanish ports would be substituted for the naval cordon in waters around Spain.

FRANCO OPENS DRIVE AGAINST SANTANDER

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, July 6.—(UP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco tonight threw his crack rebel battalions against the city of Santander in an effort to trap nearly 100,000 Loyalist troops and end the war on the northern front with one crushing blow.

Francisco's northern headquarters at Burgos announced the capture of Castro Urdiales, Biscaia, a bathing resort 27 miles east of Santander, after seizure of the Sierra Castro heights and a 10-mile retreat of the Basque defenders.

Italian volunteers of Franco's "Black Arrows" brigade were said to have led the assault on the Cantabrian heights and Castro Urdiales.

Another nationalist army advanced to within 10 miles of Riva de Sella in an attempt to isolate Santander—its normal 80,000 population increased to nearly 400,000 by war refugees from Bilbao and other Basque towns—from Asturias.

Another attack was launched from Reinos, to prevent the Basques and their 30,000 Asturian allies from withdrawing from the south to defend Santander.

"The Loyalists meanwhile reported a major victory on the central Madrid front with the capture of Brunete, 18 miles west of Madrid."

STATE DEATHS

ATHENS, Ga., July 6.—W. J. Potts, 72, well-known Atlanta and retired assistant chief of the fire department here, died last night after a short illness.

He served on several occasions during the war as chief of the fire department, served as chief for short times. Potts died at his home here Saturday morning at 11 o'clock from First Presbyterian church here.

Survivors include Mrs. Marland Hulme, of Athens, and two sons, W. J. Potts, of Seale, S. C., and Emory M. Potts, of Athens.

JAMES R. MINTER. HAMPTON, Ga., July 6.—James R. Minter, who died at his farm home here Thursday after a long illness, was buried in Berea churchyard Friday.

Mr. Minter was a member of the Henry County Board of Education and one of the county's most prominent planters. He had been married 37 years to Mrs. Minter, who died last year. He operated a large peach orchard in connection with his farming operations. He was a member of Berea Christian church here and for many years a deacon and superintendent of Sunday school.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Henderson Minter; two sons, Richard and Marvin; two daughters, Mrs. J. M. Minter and Mrs. J. M. Minter; and a granddaughter, Mrs. W. Howard Brown, of Barnesville.

Mrs. J. B. Fowler. BOWDON, Ga., July 6.—Mrs. J. B. Fowler, life-long resident of Bowdon, died yesterday at the Bowdon Baptist church here. She had been ill for some time.

Mrs. Fowler had long been identified with the civic life of this section. She was the mother of two daughters, Mrs. Herbert Griffith and Mrs. J. M. Gayle, of Asheville, two sons, Charles Fowler, of Washington, D. C., and Ralph Fowler, of Bowdon, and several stepchildren, brothers and sisters.

J. C. LOONEY. HOMER, Ga., July 6.—Rites were held Sunday at Nails Creek Baptist church for J. C. Looney, formerly of Atlanta, who died at his home near here Saturday.

Mr. Looney underwent an operation in a Gainesville hospital several weeks ago, and complications followed, resulting in his death.

He is survived by his widow, seven children, his father, and three sisters, among whom is Mrs. Buford Wiley, of Atlanta.

CHARLES HAGAN. ROME, Ga., July 6.—Charles Hagan, 61, general freight agent of the N. & W. Railway Company here the past 25 years, died in a hospital today after a long illness.

He came here from the N. C. & St. L. Hagan was connected with the Southern Railway Company. He took active part in civic club, lodge and church affairs and was a member of the Elks and several other organizations.

Services were arranged for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of H. Daniel, of Ocala, Fla., survive.

RICH GOLD SAND FOUND. ALLAHABAD, India.—(UP)—The richest gold field ever found in India, land of gold, has been discovered among the jungle-covered hills of Sirmoor state. Engineers have found that the sand in the hills contains about an ounce of gold to every 27 tons of sand, it was learned in Allahabad.

News of Gate City Told in Paragraphs

Stabbed with a knife in the abdomen, chest and about the head, Carlton Clarke, 39-year-old negro, of an Old West street address, died at Grady hospital yesterday morning. Police arrested another negro, Sylvester Ross, 19, of 242 Dunlap street, on charges of "suspicion of murder." Officers said Ross told them several conflicting stories.

Resolution regretting the illness of Governor Rivers was adopted by city council yesterday. Alderman Robert Carpenter introduced the paper which wished the Governor a speedy recovery. It was adopted unanimously.

Two brothers, Walter and Harvey Huddleston, storekeepers near Jonesboro, yesterday were bound over under $300 bond each to the federal grand jury after a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith. They were arrested on liquor charges by Alcohol Tax Unit agents who said they found five cases of bonded liquor in the rear of the store.

Atlanta bank clearings yesterday were nearly double those for the corresponding year last year, clearing house officials announced. Yesterday they were $10,300,000 as compared to $5,600,000 last year.

Reunion for all campers expecting to attend the alliance season at Camp Civitania will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Jewish Educational Alliance. The alliance season at Camp Civitania will be from August 18-September 2.

LUTHER CONVENTION SOUGHT BY 3 CITIES

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, July 6.—(AP)—Delegates from Allentown, Pa., Long Beach, Cal., and Quebec, Canada, campaigned today to have their cities chosen for the 1939 convention of the Luther League of America as the twenty-first biennial meeting entered its second day.

Reports were read during the morning session, with business scheduled for discussion tonight. The Rev. L. Ralph Tabor, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, Middletown, Md., spoke on "New Ways in a New Day."

MACON TO ENTERTAIN MILLEDGEVILLE PARTY

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., July 6.—(AP)—More than 100 Milledgeville citizens will be guests of the city of Macon Friday at Macon's Milledgeville day celebration.

J. L. Sibley, chairman of the local delegation, conferred today with John A. Jones and Lee Trimble, of the Macon Chamber of Commerce, and arranged a radio program to be broadcast Friday afternoon from Station WMAZ.

MORTUARY

MRS. WILLIAM JAMES. Final rites for Mrs. William James, 70, of Cedarhurst, died at the First Baptist church of Cedarhurst yesterday. Mrs. James died here Sunday at the home of her son, W. F. James, 910 Greenwood avenue. A resident of Polk county for several years, she was visiting her son at the time of her death. She had been ill for three weeks.

BUILDING DOUBLES

ATHENS, Ga., July 6.—Building operations in Athens for the first six months of 1937 almost doubled the total for the same period in 1936, records of the office of J. G. Beacham, building inspector, show. Last year was the peak year since 1926. A larger number of homes have been built in Athens in the last three years than in any similar period in the city's history.
